BELIEVE IT OR NOT—

A four-point, all-rubber mounting, extending to the rear of the transmission, supports the entire Chevrolet power plant.

A mounting of this type is very unusual in a low priced car. The Chevrolet construction consists of a diamond-shaped design with a point of support at the front, one at each rear corner of the crankcase and one at the rear of the transmission. All four points are supported on rubber, giving adequate cushioning and damping engine vibration before it reaches the body. It prevents vibration and supports the engine firmly.

RESCUE RUSHED FOR TRAPPED SEAMEN

IS THE CREW ALIVE?

SAVED COMMANDER FOR 62 MEN.

Unexpected Dive With Hatches Open.

Cherbourg, Yesterday.

Superhuman efforts are being made to discover if any of the 62 members of the crew of the sunken submarine Promethee are still living. Seaplanes, tugs, fishing boats and the French submarine's mothership worked all through the night which followed the day of disaster to communicate with the entombed sailors at the bottom of the sea.

The two salvage ships Rostre and Artiglio, the latter better known for her work in salvaging the bullion aboard the long-lost steamship Egypt, have hastened to the scene, where strong, swirling currents sweep over the depths where the submarine is buried. There is a desperation about the work of the rescuers.

This sudden plunge of the big undersea craft was her first dive, and was quite unpremeditated. Her diving trials were not to have been made until the end of the month.

The position of the lost vessel was discovered in an odd fashion. Searchers found a telephone buoy floating, and when they went to pick it up, discovered that the hidden end of its 180 metre cable was attached to the vessel which owned it . . . the submarine. The buoy apparently was released as the craft foundered.

Flung Into Sea. Lieutenant Dumesnil, commander of the ill-fated ship, who was on the deck of the submarine when she dived and was picked up with six others an hour after he had been hurled into the water, recalled, he said, that he

SON SUES MOTHER OVER WILL

Wife's Statement Recalled.

"AN EYE FOR AN EYE"

Shanghai, Yesterday. Reuben Joseph Monlem is suing his mother for the revocation of his father's will.

During the hearing, one of the witnesses told the court that the plaintiff's wife had told her (the witness) that she would treat her husband's family rightly if they, in turn, treated her rightly; but badly, if they in turn, treated her badly.

It was, remarked the bench, a case of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth."

Just what bearing the alleged statement of the plaintiff's wife may have on the case, the court was not informed.

MR. HOOVER'S SUGGESTION

Wins Benediction of States

Geneva, Yesterday. The debate of President Herbert Hoover's disarmament plan by the General Committee of the League in session was completed to-day. The representatives of 19 states bestowed their benediction upon the programme which the American President offered by way of suggestion.

Several delegates emphasised the necessity of taking into account the special situation which existed for small, weak countries who were neighbours of big and powerful nations.

All expressed the hope that the meeting might be convened again early next week to consider Sir John Simon's resolution, embodying points of an agreement which is the result of five months' work of the conference. — Reuter's Special Service.

SPANISH AIRMAN OFF FOR MANILA

TO LEAVE KAI TACK AT DAWN TO-DAY

DIRECT SEA FLIGHT

SENIOR LORING OPTIMISTIC SUCCESS.

Senior Fernando Rein y Loring, the Spanish aviator was due to leave for Manila, on his final hop of the Madrid — Manila flight, at 5.30 a.m. this morning.

Seen by a "Sunday Herald" reporter last night, Senior Loring was very optimistic of the success of his direct sea flight, which he hopes to accomplish in 6½ hours.

He received weather reports both from the Royal Observatory here and the Manila Observatory late yesterday evening, when it was stated that the conditions were good.

The flyer will not decide his route until he takes off, but if the wind is favourable he hopes to go direct to Manila. If necessary he will fly to Aparri. He is carrying nothing in the way of food supplies, and his plane is not equipped with radio.

His machine is reported in perfect condition, and the addition of two auxiliary gasoline tanks, will enable him to fly for nearly 12 hours, should circumstances make it necessary.

Senior Loring's decision to take the direct sea route to Manila, was made when he failed to obtain permission to land in Formosa. He has experienced considerable delay awaiting the result of his application for this permission, and has been in the Colony for more than one month, during which time his machine has been thoroughly overhauled, and supplementary fuel tanks added.

Senior Loring, who is attempting a solo flight from Madrid to Manila, arrived on May 27, after experiencing many delays. He left Madrid on April 24, in a Loring high-wing monoplane, with a 5-cylinder Kinner engine, the machine being capable of a speed of 185 kilometres per hour, and having a cruising speed of 140 kilometres. He is making the trip purely for pleasure, and not with any intention of establishing a record. After leaving Madrid, he flew to Malaga, Argel and thence to Tunis. From Tunis he went to Tripoli, Sirta, Benghazi, Tobruk and Cairo, this completing one-third of his journey.

Leaving Cairo he continued to Gaza, Amman, Baghdad, Bushire, Linger, Jask, Karachi, Jodhpur, Allahabad, Calcutta, Chittagong, Akyab, Rangoon, Bangkok, Lakhone, Hanoi, Mongkal, Fort Bayard and Taiiping, taking off from the latter place for Hong Kong. The total journey amounted to 15,566 kilometres.

On the hop from Hanoi, a leaking petrol tank caused him considerable trouble, and twice caused him to make forced landings.

During his stay here Senior Loring has been the guest of Senior J. Gascon Ch. Gonzalez de Bernedo.

CONVERTED BONDS MAY SAVE TAXES

HONG KONG, SHANGHAI BANK HELPS SCHEME

PRUDENTIAL CONVERT £12,000,000

London, Yesterday.

While it is too early as yet to assure the patriotic holders of War Loan Conversion Bonds that their assets will be transferred into reduction of direct taxation, every effort will be made in that direction.

All members of the London Bankers' Clearing House, and Shanghai Banking Corporation, decided to convert the whole of their War Loan holdings under the new plan.

The Prudential Insurance Company has already converted £12,000,000 worth of bonds, representing a drop in interest earnings of £180,000 annually. — Reuter.

Bridge Notes Unbiddable Hands

Faults Found With Contract Bridge

Some people find fault with contract on the ground that with four good players bidding accurately it resolves itself into double dummy.
These critics can always be identified; they are persons with a fierce prejudice in favour of auction, and have attempted to play contract after brief and superficial instruction only to find themselves helpless in the grip of powerful foes. Every contract expert is mournfully aware that he periodically flounders in a bidding morass. The other night at my club, I sat North at the following deal; my partner and I were vulnerable, and there were no partners:

Goulash.

Spades: Q, 5, 2.
Hearts: K, J, 9, 8, 7, 5.
Diamonds: J, 10, 9, 4.
Clubs:—

West.

Spades: A, J, 8, 6, 4.
Hearts: A, 3.
Diamonds: A, Q, 7, 6, 3.
Clubs: 5.

East.

Spades: 10.
Hearts: Q, 10, 6, 4.
Diamonds: K, 8, 5.
Clubs: A, 10, 9, 8, 6.

Celia.

Spades: K, 9, 7, 3.
Hearts: 2.
Diamonds: 2.

Clubs: K, Q, J, 7, 4, 3, 2.

The bidding went:—
Celia. West. Goulash. East.
No. 1S. 2H. 2NT.
3C. 3S. No. 3NT.
4C. 4NT. No. No.
D'ble. No. No. No.

In this tussle there were three atrocious bids. West, who, shameful to relate, is a professional instructor, missed a glorious chance to describe his hand to East by bidding 3D instead of 3S; and, much as I admire Celia's normal play, I can make no defence of her double, for, though I had called, she could not rely on making a solitary trick.
The worst bid of the series was surely West's 4NT, against a vulnerable opposition, when his partner had twice called no trumps and shown stoppers in both the enemy suits. He should have doubled Celia's 4C, or at least passed her call on to East for doubling, when a heavy penalty—probably 1,000—would have accrued. As it was, East was 400 down. The 4C bid by Celia was very dangerous for a vulnerable call. Probably the correct bidding should have run:—

Celia. West. Goulash. East.
No. 1S. 2H. 2NT.
No. 3D. No. 4D.
No. 5D. No. No.

(*) I am bound to show my hearts, but should probably fail to make this small contract if doubted.
(†) With an almost solid minor suit, a probable re-entry, and the prospect of her partner's bothering the foe in hearts and diamonds, a club call when vulnerable, with the enemy considering a no trumper, is very poor tactics.

(‡) No chance of game should be missed with the enemy vulnerable. It is never safe to hazard on a double dummy survey how such freak distributions will work out in blind play. My lead against 5D is a brute. I should probably select the heart opening, and West would probably be one light.

The next hand displays me in the repulsive attitude of a timid fool.
The occasion was a local pairs championship, and I had fallen into the drowsy state engendered by perpetually repeating "No bid" in the intervals of the enemy's gradual approaches to slam bids. Mechanically I pulled hand number 13 out of the duplicate tray, on which I was marked as a vulnerable dealer.

I awoke with a crash as my dumb-found eyes surveyed this extraordinary hand:—

Spades: A, K, Q, 10, 8, 7, 6.

Hearts:—

Diamonds: A, K.

Clubs: A, K, 10, 2.

Litterly I regretted my unpardon-able failure to ask the secretary whether any of the hands had been framed; this looked far too good for a straight deal. In a friendly rubber I should always take a chance and call 7S on such a holding; but a duplicate championship is another matter, especially if the hands are prearranged. West might conceivably hold plenty of spades to the J, 9, together with a guarded
Q, J, in clubs. If I went down four tricks doubled, the 1,400 penalty would put paid not only to my own standing in the tourney, but also to North's. So, much against the grain, I felt bound to adopt routine bidding and forced with a call of 2S in the effort to discover (a) whether North was void in spades, and (b) whether North held the queen of clubs. East passed, and North, as expected, bid a negative 2NT. This was far better than the bid of 3H which he might have contributed, so far as I know, and paved the way to my second sounding of 3C, which had almost directness of a question. North next called 3H, a tiresomely irrelevant remark from my standpoint, as it was inconceivable that we should make any trick in hearts.
I now felt a wild longing to bid 6S, but in a tournament one has no right to imperil another player's standing, and I had to be content with 4S. Everybody passed, and when West led the club 8 I momentarily shook hands with myself.
Then North imperceptibly laid down

Spades: 9, 5.

Hearts: Q, J, x, x, x, x, x.

Diamonds: 10, x, x, x.

Clubs:—

and it dawned on me that, as dummy could trump my two small clubs, the hand was a laydown for seven spades! By a miracle of repression I refrained from any hard words towards North, who, holding a sure trick even if spades were led, might surely have raised me once when I had called 4S after his double refusal of the suit. I might have shown less self-control if I had then known what happened to this hand at another table. Two light-hearted sisters, who follow no particular bidding system but interpret every intonation and eye twinkle, duly secured their grand slam. Sister Ann opened with the highly unconventional bid of 6S, and Sister Bee raised her to 6S, whereupon Ann drew a deep breath and went 7S. West, holding the heart ace and being scandalised at such grossly irregular calling, doubted, and, hypnotised by her ace, proceeded to lead it instead of opening with the small spade which alone might have torpedoed the grand slam. So whereas I and my North scored a beggarly 870 points on the deal the two dashing sisters reaped 2,620 points. The grand slam is perhaps not strictly "unbid-dable" by methods of precision, but it cannot be made against a perfect defence and risks being set for two tricks. Any member of a crack American team is expelled if he bids a grand slam in match play where any possible element of doubt exists. The correct tournament bidding is: South: two spades. North:
two no trumps. South: three clubs.
North: three hearts. South: three spades. North: four spades (or three trumps—with 4S, as the sunder bid). South: six spades (if North calls 4S; but if North calls 3NT, South should call 4S, whereupon North, realising the length of South's spades, gives him one raise to 5S, and South bids 6S, which North should pass, knowing that an opening trump lead is probable).

items for the month were two Chinese Relays.

PRINCESS SLAYS HER LOVER.

Sentenced To Prison For Deed.

Warsaw, June 13.

Princess Woroniccka, member of a very old Polish family—one of her ancestors was a King of Poland—was sentenced to three years' imprisonment at Warsaw for shooting her lover dead with a revolver.

The dead man was Mr. W. Boye, a wealthy rubber manufacturer.

The couple lived together, but were unable to marry because Mr.
Boye had not obtained a divorce from his wife.

One day Mr. Boye said that his brother was coming to Warsaw from Germany, and that the Princess would have to leave his apartment, as he was afraid that his brother would object to her presence.

There was a quarrel, and suddenly the Princess fired seven times at her lover. He was hit by four bullets and died almost immediately.

After the tragedy the Princess telephoned to Mr. Boye's office and said to his secretary:

"I have shot your chief dead."

She told the police that she asked Mr. Boye five times if he would marry her, and each time he said
"No."

It was stated that Mr. Boye had intimated his intention of putting an end to the liaison for family reasons.

GRADUATES BEATEN

RECREIO AND SOUTH CHINA REGISTER "DOUBLES."

The Craigengower Cricket Club are making a bold challenge for the "B" Division Shield. Yesterday they registered their fourth successive win, having won 26 of the 36 sets played. South China are, however, following close on their heels and have yet to taste defeat. The holders, the Chinese R.C., have only played two matches, but their record for those two is an excellent one.

The Army, making no changes in the side which beat the Recreio on Wednesday, encountered stern opposition at Kowloon where the K.C.C. were in search of their first league points. After an exciting struggle the Army won by the narrowest possible margin.

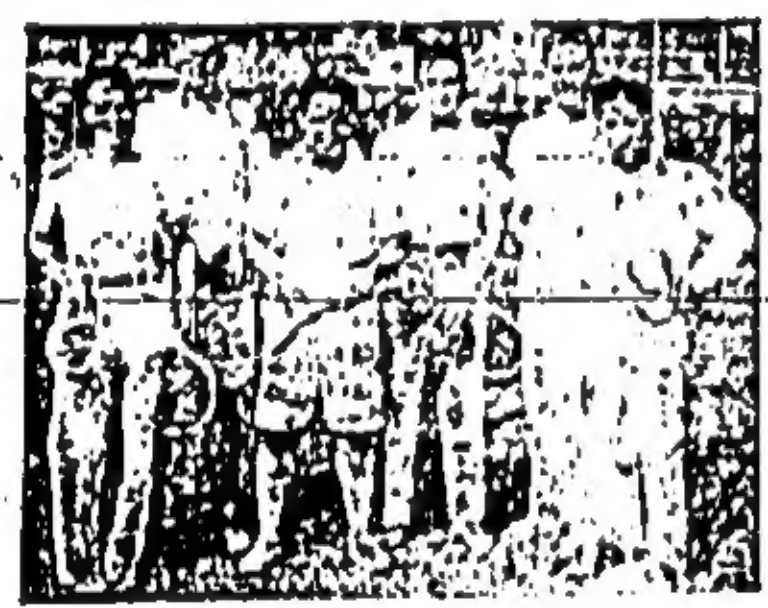

In the "C" Division both the Chinese R.C., the holders, and the Club de Recreio, runners-up, registered big victories at the expense of lowly-placed clubs.

The Kowloon Cricket Club, at the other end of the table, failed to register their first points of the season when opposed to Craigengower at the Valley. South China, who are still in the running for the championship, overwhelmed the University, whilst the Army gained a very creditable win over the Graduates' Association, who had lost only one match previous to yesterday's game.

"B" Division.

Displaying poor form, with, perhaps, the exception of A. H. Madar, A. R. Minu, and F. D. Pereira the Indian Recreation Club were obliged to bow the knee to the Club de Recreio, at King's Park, going down by 3½ sets to 5½.

STRONG "B" CHALLENGERS.

The Craigengower Cricket Club "B" team, which is making a bold bid for the championship this year, photographed before their decisive victory over the Civil Servants at the Valley yesterday. (Ying Ming.)

Both teams were not at full strength, the visitors being without O. Ismail, while the home team played without the services of A. V. Gosano, the interport footballer.

Only one set went to twelve games, this being the set played between B. Gosano and Carvalho and S. A. Ismail and Madar. The former pair lost their first two sets, obtaining only six games only to make a last-minute recovery.

Remedios and Ribeiro proved to be the Recreio's mainstay, winning all three of their sets, conceding but five games in 27.

Ismail and Madar, after putting up a strong fight in their first set (they lost 5-7) failed miserably and were only able to secure two games in the other two sets.

Pereira, partnered by Hoosan, played with rare consistency, scoring heavily with smashes. Taking the first set at 6-4, they drew with Noronha and Barros, and were unlucky to lose to the Recreio's pair, being beaten after ten games.

Hong Kong Swimming Association

Officials Decide to Close Down.

ENTHUSIAST MAKES SPORTING APPEAL

The Sunday Herald learns that the Hong Kong Swimming Association has decided to close down on account of the lack of funds. A last meeting will be held on Monday week to clear up the affairs of an association which has only been in force since 1925.

One keen sportsman, who desires to remain anonymous, has, however, offered to subscribe $100 to the Association providing nine others follow his lead, so that there is yet hope for the Association should the officials decide to accept outside donations. Swimming enthusiasts have

HEAVY SCORING IN LAWN BOWLS LEAGUE

KOWLOON C.C. SECURE "DOUBLE"

POLICE BEATEN BY 40 SHOTS

LYAL'S RINK REGISTERS A 6

Heavy defeats in both divisions of the Lawn Bowls League featured the matches played yesterday afternoon in brilliant sunshine. The slight downpour of rain during the tiffin interval improved the greens, and four games were closely contested.

The biggest defeat of the afternoon was registered at Happy Valley, where the Civil Servants defeated the Police by the large margin of 40 shots. Three other defeats by over 30 shots were also recorded. The narrowest win of the day was witnessed at Kowloon, where the Kowloon Cricket Club gained a three-shot victory over the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club.

The biggest individual rink defeat was suffered by J. Moss of the Police, who lost by 27 shots to R. H. Phillips of the C.S.C.C., the score being 38-9. At Kowloon, Lyal's rink, of the K.C.C., secured a 6 out of a possible 8 on the sixteenth head.

The Kowloon Cricket Club registered the "double" of the day, their seniors returning to championship form against Kowloon Dock whilst their juniors, scored a 12-shot victory over the Hong Kong Electric.

The Club de Recreio failed to register a "double" against the Tai Koo Recreation Club, their juniors failing by 37 shots.

First Division.

OMAR DISTINGUISHES HIMSELF.

Gow's Last Minute Effort Unavailing.

The Craigenower Cricket Club registered their seventh victory this season when they beat the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, on the latter's green yesterday afternoon.

The visitors maintained an early lead and won easily by 32 shots, the final scores being C.C.C. 68, K.B.G.C. 36. In spite of the big margin of points, the game was not without interest, and the visitors had a stiff fight to register a win on No. 1 rink. Until the 16th head they could only maintain a lead of two shots, but eventually they won the rink by seven shots, a welcome four being registered at the 16th head.

Basa and Rossetti.

On the other two rinks however, the K.B.G.C. fared badly, and at no stage of the game did they look like winning.

Basa and Rossetti were largely responsible for the visitor's win on rink No. 1, while Russell, the home skip, put up strong opposition. On this rink the K.B.G.C. started well with a couple of threes before the visitors settled down. The next two heads, however, saw Craigenower get on level terms. The scores were all square at the ninth head, but the visitors from that stage crept ahead and maintained the lead until the final shot, a four at the 16th head putting the issue beyond doubt, the score being 22-16 in favour of Craigenower.

Bradbury's Big Win.

The visitors gained 15 shots towards their victory on No. 3 rink (B. W. Bradbury and D. Gow being the rival skips). Each and all of the visitors played with excellent judgment, and the result was never in doubt.

From the first head Craigenower took the lead, the scoring being on the slow side. A blank head was returned when the score stood at 6 shots to 2, but after that the visitors showed great form, registering a four, three two's and a couple of singles in six consecutive heads. Leading at the 12th head by 15 shots, the visitors' scoring again became weak, heavy play being the order. A three at the 14th head gave the visitors a further lead, whilst the home side returned with four singles.

Gow's Effort.

The margin for the visitors would have been greater but for a fine effort by D. Gow on the last head but one, when the K.B.G.C. registered a three to bring their total to ten. G. Mitchell, playing No. 1 for the home team on this rink, was responsible for some good shots in the closing heads.

A feature of the game on No. 4 rink, was the bowling of Omar, the Craigenower skip and last year's Open champion, and Brightman, playing No. 1. Arcull was also prominent among the visitors.

Omar's Fine Display.

Winning the rink by a margin of ten shots, Craigenower had little difficulty in disposing of their opponents, although the winners only managed to evade substantial reverses on several heads by playing a heavy game. On more than one occasion K.B.G.C. were lying, only to be shattered by a heavy shot from Omar.

The home team were the first to score, with a two, but after the fourth head the visitors drew ahead and kept the lead, clinching the decision in the three final heads, when they added a couple of twos and a single, the score being 21 shots to 11.

No Surprise Result.

The result came as no surprise, in spite of the Kowloon Bowling Club's victory over Kowloon Dock last week, but in fairness to the home team it must be noted that they did not suffer such a heavy defeat as on the occasion of their first meeting with Craigenower this season, when the latter won by 47 shots.

The visitors showed remarkable understanding as a team, and were far superior in tactics to the K.B.G.C.

It is interesting to note that Craigenower lost to Kowloon Dock in the first match of the season by 21 shots, and that the Dock team was beaten by the Kowloon Bowling Green Club last week by nine shots.

HYDE-LAY'S BRILLIANT MOMENT.

Hampton and Goodwin Impress.

At King's Park yesterday the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club were beaten by the Kowloon Cricket Club by only 3 shots. J. Brown's rink lost by eight shots to the K.C.C. quartette, skipped by J. Fraser. Similar play resulted on the second rink when the K.D.R.C. team were defeated by 12 shots.

On the third rink, however, F. Cullen's rink beat the K.C.C. players by 17 in a great effort to snatch an eleventh-hour victory.

The K.C.C. were held for the first three heads on rink number 1, when the Dockers registered singles on the first, second, third and fifth heads. The cricketers, however, scored a 2 and a 3 on the fourth and sixth heads to give them a lead of one.

The K.D.R.C. levelled up at the seventh, and from the eighth to the thirteenth, the K.C.C. only scored two while Dockers chalked up six to take the lead by three. The scores were level at the fifteenth thanks to excellent play by Hampton and Goodwin. From then on the K.C.C. forged ahead to claim 9 shots to their opponents' 3, to give them victory by 8 shots.

On Lyall's rink, the K.C.C. were again held on the first four shots, but brilliant play overcame the score in the fifth. The Cricket Club then settled down to steady bowling with K.C.C. quartette, but on the very next head, the Dock rallied splendidly to register a 30. A 4 and 3 at the 18th and 21st, however, put the Kowloon Cricket Club in the lead to finish worthy victors by 12 shots.

The excellent bowling of Hyde-Lay was mainly responsible for the K.C.C. victory.

On rink number three where the Dockers registered such a decisive victory and came very near to evening the final score, five 3's and one 5 were registered by Cullen's rink. Of the twenty-one heads, the Dockers failed to score on only seven heads.

A 6 at the eleventh head gave the Dockers a lead of nine, and final at the sixteenth head they were leading by 13 shots. Kowloon succeeded in diminishing the lead by one before the Dockers went out at 29-12.

PLANNING FINANCIAL FRAUDS

Mussolini And The Kreuger Frauds

Dramatic Scene At Rome

SIGNATURE ON ITALIAN TREASURY
BILLS FALSE.

THE BALANCE-SHEETS

A dramatic story of Signor Mussolini's reputation of Ivar Kreuger is told in an official police report from Rome.

It describes an interview between the Duce and M. Hellner, former Swedish Foreign Minister, who went to Rome to seek information about the forged Italian Treasury Bills found after Kreuger's death.

M. Hellner told the Italian Premier that these and other signed documents clearly indicated negotiations with Italy.

"There was no agreement; the negotiations were never concluded," said Signor Mussolini with emphasis.

The Duce then complained that the signature of his Finance Minister, Signor Mosconi, found on the Italian Treasury bills, was false. He produced six examples of Signor Mosconi's signature on documents lying on his desk to prove this. This was confirmed in a subsequent interview between M. Hellner and Signor Mosconi himself.

Italy's Decision.
Signor Boselli, Director-General of the Italian State Monopolies, later declared that Kreuger had also forged his signature.

In any case, it was finally asserted by Signor Mussolini, that neither Signor Mosconi nor Signor Boselli was qualified to sign such documents on behalf of the Italian State.

The climax to the dramatic inquiries came at a later meeting between Signor Boselli and Mosconi and M. Hellner. The Italian officials said that in 1926 Kreuger, on his own initiative, made a proposal for a monopoly of match production in Italy. This was discussed at a meeting at Florence on Oct. 18. No agreement was concluded.

Shortly afterwards the negotiations with Kreuger were definitely and categorically broken off.

A letter dated Dec. 20, 1930, was produced. This stated that "Italy, having regard to the tendentious and mendacious talks which have taken place, does not wish to continue the negotiations."

The Coat of Arms.
The police report proceeds to describe the meeting between Kreuger and the representative of the Swedish firm which printed the false Treasury Bills.

Mr. Wickmar, a director of the printing firm, said that he was summoned to see Kreuger, who showed him a letter with the signature of Signor Mussolini.

He also showed him an envelope, addressed to Kreuger, and bearing an Italian coat of arms. Kreuger told him that he wished to reproduce this on the first Treasury bills.

At a subsequent interview Kreuger told him that in this Italian transaction he had contributed effectively towards an agreement between the great Powers at the Geneva Conference.

Arrested Directors.
The activities of the three arrested directors, Sven Hult, Victor Holm and Karl Lange, are then dealt with.

Hult's story is that he was originally the representative of a match undertaking which was purchased by Kreuger. One day Kreuger sent for him and engaged him at a salary £180 a month.

The appointment, apparently, was to be surrounded by a good deal of secrecy. Hult was not to get in touch with Kreuger under his own name, but under the name of Svensson.

The report gives an almost incredible account of how Kreuger would meet his secret agent in his home at Stockholm. Hundreds of share and debenture certificates in Kreuger companies would be piled up on a table. Hult was told that he might take as many as he wished, secure money on them from the banks and then buy Swedish Match and Kreuger shares with the proceeds.

A section of the report concerns the arrested auditor, Anton Wendler, and the investigations made regarding the balance-sheet of Kreuger and Co. for 1930. This was drafted three times. In the first draft the total amount of claims outstanding was put at £18,350,000, of which £8,500,000 was due from Kreuger himself. A second draft reduced these figures to £14,000,000 and £5,000,000 respectively. But in the final draft the total was put at £9,000,000, and Kreuger's liability had disappeared altogether.

A number of further arrests are expected shortly, according to the newspapers. This is as a result of a thorough examination by detectives of all telegrams sent from Stockholm during the past year by Ivar Kreuger and his companies.

U. S. Disclosure.
The bankruptcy proceedings against the International Match Corporation, the American holding company of the Kreuger group, are being closely watched by Government Agents to determine if criminal action for the use of the mails to defraud is warranted. During the course of an inquiry before the Government referee it was revealed that the International Match Co. had cash assets of only £33,000 compared with indebtedness of £20,000,000.

It is disclosed also that the New York financial agents of the group did not question Kreuger concerning the foreign concessions claimed as assets behind the American negotiations. So far, it has only been possible to find evidence of two of these concessions, although the company was said to possess more than twelve.

QUININE IS NOT ENOUGH

Though quinine is essential in the treatment of Malaria, Genasprin is of wonderful benefit in relieving the pains in your muscles and joints. Genasprin, the absolutely pure and therefore safe brand of aspirin, soothes the nerves, induces deep restful sleep and so helps to reduce the temperature. Genasprin and quinine may be taken with perfect safety at the same time.

Temperature Gone in 2 Hours. A frequent victim of Malaria writes:—"In cases of Malaria I take 10 grains of Genasprin (2 tablets) followed 10 minutes later by 10 grains of quinine. I then soon begin to perspire—having, of course, gone to bed under plenty of blankets—and in a couple of hours my temperature has gone and there is no need to continue the Genasprin. Plain quinine by itself is not effective and only results in a severe headache. The Genasprin not only excites a healthy perspiration, but also banishes the ill-effects of quinine—headache, dizziness, sickness and weakness."

The GLOBE TROTTER'S DIARY.

Inchape's Escapes...

The internment of Lord Inchape's body in the little churchyard of Glenapp recalls two incidents in the early life of James Lyle Mackay, which have not been alluded to, and which nearly cost him his life.

When he was only eight years old he was taken on a voyage from Montrose to Archangel in a barque of 300 tons, and on two occasions while she lay in the Russian port he fell overboard. On the first occasion he was rescued by a Russian boy, and on the second the cook seized him by the scruff of the neck as he was going down for the third time.

New Cocktail Bar...

When the City Fathers set out on their annual water inspection recently they visited the Baile Nielson Hotel at Aberfoyle. Mr. Alasdair Cameron, the proprietor introduced them to the new cocktail bar which he erected at a cost of several thousand pounds.

Landed a Tree...

A glider turned turtle in a squall at the height of 6,000 feet above Wiesbaden and threw the pilot, Herr Paess, out of his seat. The parachute opened automatically and he landed safely among the branches of a tree.

Next he began a search for his machine, which he found undamaged resting high above the ground on another tree.

What's in a Name?

A man and his wife were so delighted by the birth of their baby that they offered to sponsor the christening of any unchristened child in the town of Jorez de la Fontaine, Spain, and to make it a present of 7s. 6d.

Four hundred children, some of them ten years old, turned up to be christened, many coming from villages miles away. The parish priest hurriedly sent for assistance and mass christening was carried out.

New Sicket Triumph...

Once again Mr. Richard Sicket, the septuagenarian artist, whose painting, "The Raising of Lazarus," was the sensation of the Royal Academy exhibition, is in the limelight. Inspired by Miss Amelia Earhart's Atlantic flight, he has commemorated the American airwoman's landing at Hanworth with a painting which is on view at the Beaux Arts Gallery, where he is now holding an exhibition of his works.

The picture, which was suggested by a Daily Sketch photograph, and shows Miss Earhart alighting from her machine in a thunderstorm, amidst crowds of enthusiastic spectators, is a wonderful achievement in topical art, having taken less than a week to paint. It is in the best Sicket vein, being in full colour and characterised by his splendid qualities of movement and form.

Age of Governors...

It is a little odd to hear that one of the chief grievances of the West Indian Colonies is the advanced age of the Governors. The youngest is the Governor of the Bahamas, Capt. B. E. H. Clifford, who is 42; five others are in the fifties; and the oldest is the Governor of Barbados, Sir W. C. F. Robertson, who is 65.

This gives an average age of 56—rather less, than the average age of a captain in the Royal Navy, and considerably less than the average age of our judges.

If bodily activity be the test, it is worth recalling that George Gunn, Notts' opening batsman, is 52, and that some of the best golfers in the country are as old as the criticised officials.

Examples Abound...

It is interesting, too, to compare the age of the West Indian Governors with that of men who bear greater responsibilities in the Empire. The Viceroy of India (Lord Willingdon) is 65; the Governor-General of Canada (Lord Bessborough) is 62; the Governor-General of Australia (Sir Isaac Isaacs) is 77; and the Governor-General of South Africa (Lord Clarendon) is 65.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald is active enough at 65, and the Secretary for the Dominions (Mr. Thomas) is 56.

Sherry and Genius...

The castle itself is a pleasant enough building in the Georgian style, while the terraces are remarkable both for their magnificence and their origin. For their designer, one Daniel Robertson, was extremely fond of sherry, and when stricken with gout in consequence used to be wheeled about in a barrow, directing operations and hugging his sherry bottle affectionately the while.

WHERE DOES FASCISM LEAD?

A Decade Of Fascist Regime In Italy

"Its Romance Has Turned To Routine"

CRISIS EFFECTS

"THE DESIRE FOR LIBERTY IS BEING REBORN."

THIS year completes a decade of the Fascist regime in Italy.

What are its prospects of enduring; and how has its popularity been affected by the present economic crisis?—writes E. B. F. Wareing in the Daily Telegraph.

I have just completed an extensive investigation of the situation in the industrial north of Italy. Quite apart from the question of Fascism the general conclusion I have reached is that a strong central Government and a traditionally modest standard of living will see Italy through.

On the other hand, a certain change in attitude is noticeable. Whilst it is realised that a strong dictatorial Government has a more direct grip of the situation, especially in a period of crisis, signs are apparent of an increasing feeling of restlessness and uncertainty, not to say dissatisfaction.

Change of Attitude.

Now that the romance of Fascism is passing into routine, the desire for liberty is being reborn, especially amongst the young of the middle-class—or at least the more adventurous of them. The germs of conflict with the conservative elements of the party are springing up. These tendencies are for the most part successfully countered in the high schools and universities by the ever-growing emphasis which the Fascist Youth Organisation lays on sport but it remains to be seen whether they can be completely checked. There are signs to the contrary.

In the working class the general tone is that of resignation. The average workman is at the moment not so enthusiastic about his "sindacato" (trade union) as he was before his wages were reduced. He probably now feels that the return which it gives for the loss of his political freedom is not so adequate as it once promised to be.

To judge by the very large batches of Communists brought before the Special Tribunal for the Defence of the State, Communism is making considerable headway below the surface. How far it has a special programme for Italy it is not easy to say, but undoubtedly it is the only serious rival that Fascism has to fear.

Standard of Living.

Discontent in other classes is fairly widespread in the north, but they are leaderless and helpless when faced by the highly-developed resources of the State.

Owing to the resumption of certain seasonal trades the latest figures of unemployment show a slight decrease, and now amount to 1,000,025 persons fully unemployed. Of these, about 282,000 are in receipt of assistance, amounting to about a shilling per day for a period of three months only. Relief is given throughout the country by Fascist organisations in addition to the State aid above mentioned, but no statistics are available as to the extent of this relief, or as to persons only partly employed.

Their number must, however, be extremely high, for partial employment is a recognised palliative in Italy, and is enforced upon employers who would in the normal way dismiss workers altogether, or even close down their factories. It is admitted on all hands that the crisis is increasing, but opinions differ as to whether or not the general standard of living is now higher, or lower than before the war.

In the South of Italy it would seem to be definitely lower. In the industrial region the general standard increased after the war, but has fallen rapidly since 1927 and has not yet reached the lowest possible point, though this is not far away.

A social worker expressed to me the opinion that, though the cost of living has been reduced, wages had been reduced still further. The official reductions, have been as follows:

In October, 1927, a cut of 10 per cent. to 20 per cent.
In 1930, a cut of 8 per cent. in industry, and from 15 per cent. to as much as 25 per cent. in agriculture.

Workers complain that the manufacturers are eluding the law governing "corporations" by reducing wages individually under threat of dismissal. The "syndicates" can only intervene effectively when questions of principle are raised, otherwise they are not always aware of what is going on, and even when they are they have no official basis for action.

The workmen's syndicates cannot approach the employers direct, but only through the General Syndicate of Employers. A complicated and long-drawn-out procedure consequently ensues, which is to the disadvantage of the worker.

The approximate wages of industrial workers are given as follows: Unskilled workers: 12 to 15 lire per day (2s. 7d. to 3s. 3d. at gold rates).

Skilled workers: 20 lire per day (4s. 6d.).
Specialists: 22 to 25 lire a day (4s. 11d. to 5s. 6d.).

Fascist "Forced Levies."

Dissatisfaction is, however, not restricted to employees. Employers complain that pressure is brought upon them to retain in partial employment men whom they would otherwise dismiss.

They also say that the collective wage agreements imposed on the corporation system are uneconomic, and they complain still more of the "forced levies" made by Fascist Organisations for the benefit of soup kitchens and other relief work. Lists of employers are drawn up containing particulars of the amount of money which each one is considered to be in a position to give.

If he fails to do so, he is apt to find his name in the papers with some such heading as: "Rich man fails to assist poor."

On the Stock Exchange the value of industrial shares sank by about 25 per cent. last year, and is estimated to have sunk again this year by some 10 to 20 per cent. The gambling instinct is prominent in Italy, and consequently on the Stock Exchange there have been many forced sales at a loss.

In consequence of the slump, industrial shares were sold in favour of State Bonds, which also have a strong gambling attraction, since two yearly premiums of one million lire (£11,000) for each series are offered.

Little Money-Hoarding.

The recent 5 per cent. State Loan of one milliard lire (£11,000,000 at par) was over-subscribed by three milliards on the first day. This over-subscription mirrors the general confidence reposed in the State, but needless to say it implies on the State's part an additional responsibility.

Contrary to expectations, the State decided in this case to take practically the whole of the surplus, and many banks and capitalists were forced to realise other investments, with the result that a further drop in values took place.

Of the four milliards, one is to be used for conversion, one for public works (including Government purchases for this purpose), the third to lessen the Budget deficit, which is now over two milliards, and the fourth for the reduction of the debt of the Liquidation Institute of the Banca d'Italia. This Institute, which Signor Mussolini has called "the Hospital of the Banks," uses the money for the support of banks which are in difficulties.

The hoarding of money is not nearly so characteristic a feature of the Italian people, even in the country districts, as it is in France, and there is no general lack of confidence.

TRADER'S STRUGGLE RECALLED.

Fought Traffic in Slaves.

DAUGHTER'S STORY.

London, June 5.

A little frail, silver-haired woman, in her 86th year now, sat in her Boxhill (Sussex) house and talked of exploits with which her father surprised the world 100 years ago.

Miss "Nannie" Laird is the only surviving daughter of Macgregor Laird, the centenary of whose great expedition to West Africa will be celebrated next month.

The story of his fight against the trade of the slave dealers and his work for British commerce in Africa will be told when the Prince of Wales attends the West Africa dinner, and special cathedral services will also be held in his honour.

But Miss Laird talked to-day of the power of his personality and of the ideals that spurred him on even when disaster and death seemed to await him if he did not turn back.

Few Relics.

Miss Laird said:

"He left very few relics of his adventures. But here is one treasured possession he brought home. It is a table cloth woven in long strands by the natives.

"My father was a man of unbounded enthusiasm. He was appalled by the stories which reached England of the terrible conditions under which slaves in West Africa worked. He knew that the task was a big one, but he determined to do what he could to change those conditions.

"So he led an expedition which consisted of two steam boats, the Quorra and the Alburka, and a small brig, the Columbine. With a total crew of 48 they eventually reached the Niger."

Tells of Tragedy.

Miss Laird told of the tragedy that overtook that expedition. The pioneers were stricken with fever and disease, and faced with hostility on every side. Mr. Laird penetrated as far as Funtua, having been carried on a litter the greater part of the way. He was convinced that legitimate trade with Africa was the best means of counteracting and finally extinguishing the slave trade.

Then came the terrible homeward journey of the expedition, for out of the 48 Europeans who started with it only nine survived. Mr. Laird returned to Liverpool with his health much impaired by the hardships.

Lieut.-Colonel Sir Henry L. Galway, chairman of the Centenary Committee, said Laird was a great Christian, a great pioneer and a fine and unselfish trader. Before he died he had the satisfaction of seeing a regular service of ships operating between the United Kingdom and West Africa, and he had taken the leading part in forming the new service. He showed the possibilities of West Africa.

ence in such institutions as Savings Banks.

Money is no longer invested in house property, the value of which has fallen. Agriculture is shunned as unremunerative.

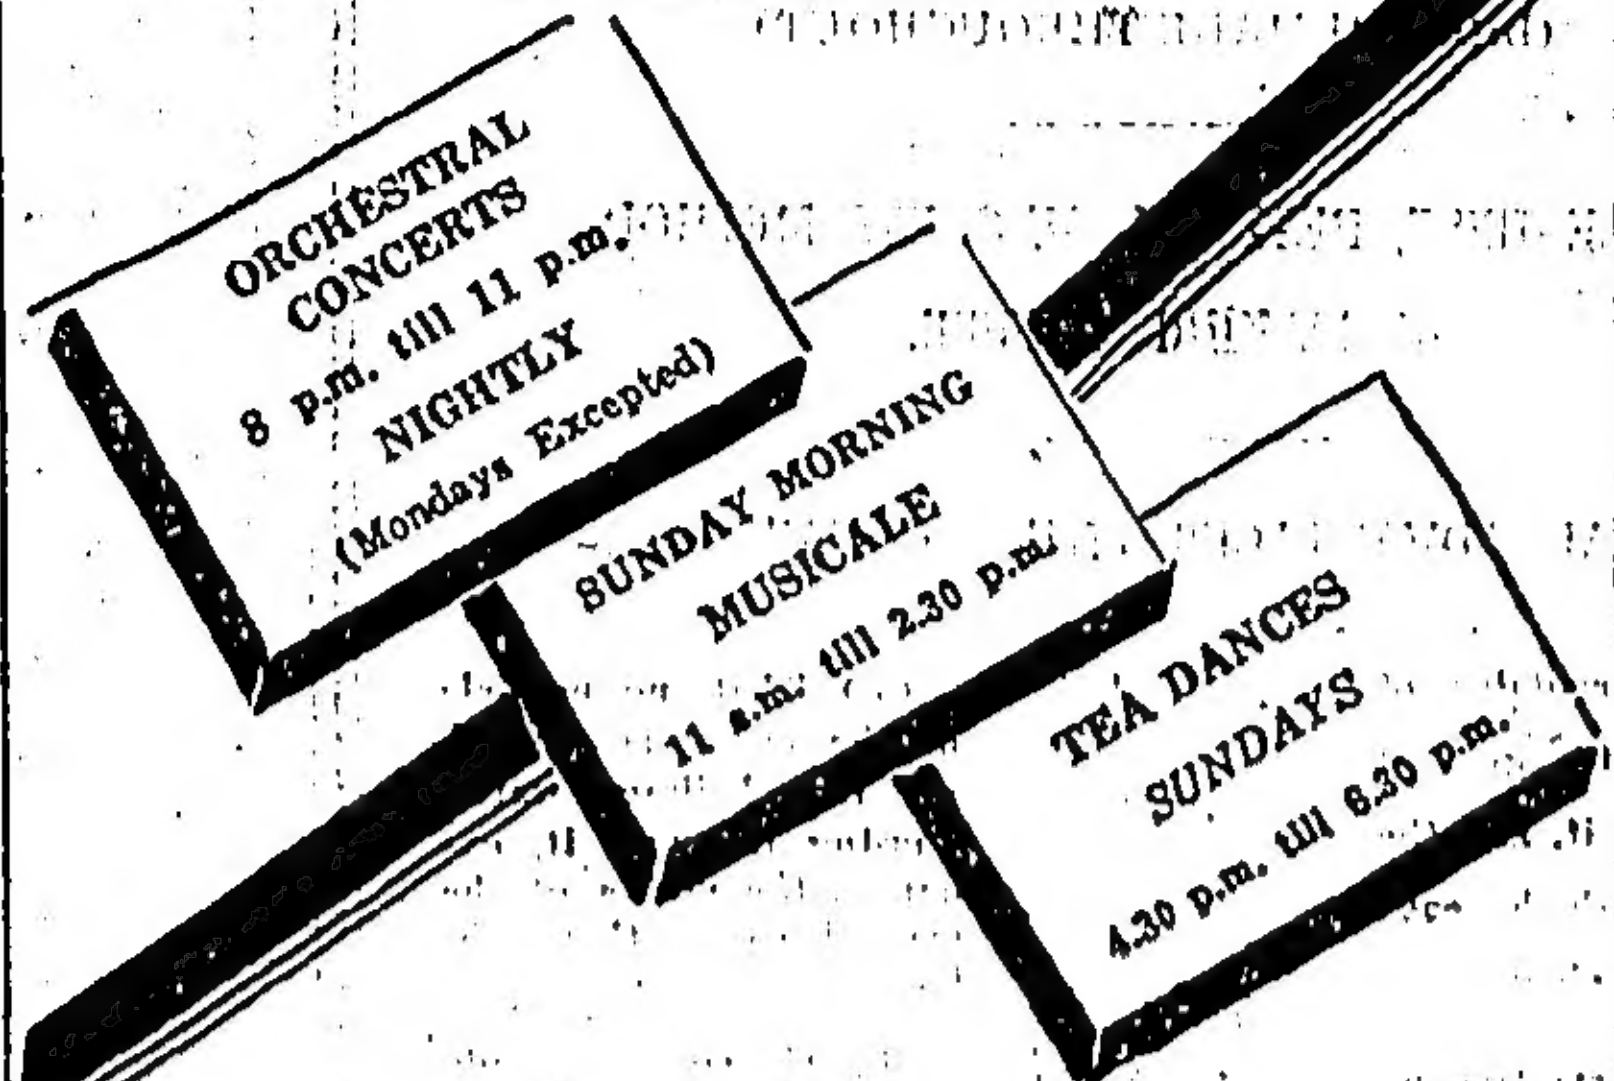

Savings invested in Post Office Savings Banks also flow to the State. They represent about 15 milliard lire, whilst an almost equal amount is invested in other trustee securities, mainly by small investors. The amount is increasing, probably as a result of the situation outlined above.

The place taken by the State in England is represented by expenditure on public works, and in the next budget year (beginning in July) two and a half milliard lire will be devoted to fighting the crisis in addition to the one milliard already mentioned. One and a half milliard will be spent on public works, including land reclamation, 500,000,000 lire on subsidising the mercantile marine, 200,000,000 will go to the railways, 100,000,000 to agriculture, and 70,000,000 to promote Civil Aviation.

There is general agreement amongst those best qualified to speak on the matter that returns from taxation are diminishing, since people in many cases are completely unable to meet recent increases.

Accomplishment Or Failure At Lausanne?

THE agreement at Lausanne is not all that was desired but at least it provides a foundation for future accomplishment along the lines advocated by such outstanding and sincere internationalists as Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. After the delays and hithers that threatened to disrupt the Conference it is a matter for satisfaction and congratulation that any success was achieved at all, although an absolute failure was inconceivable. To most people the agreement is not very clear and the complexity of the phrasing will confuse many. No doubt, the wording was deliberately obscure in places and the failures are covered up as much as possible. The real value of the agreement rests on its potentialities, and it is a basis of future negotiation that it will possess most importance. Everything depends on the reaction of all the parties concerned, and any disturbance could render the work of the Conference entirely valueless. That some understanding and mutual agreement was arrived at is encouraging, and if progress is made on the same lines a real and effective accomplishment for the benefit of the world will have been made.

There is, however, ground for many misgivings. The political declaration stating that the signatories firmly intended to contribute to a new order which will allow the establishment and development of confidence between the nations in a mutual spirit of reconciliation, collaboration and justice sounds noble enough, but conflicts with actualities, even if hopes are held of better things to come. Undoubtedly the chief accomplishment is the cancellation of reparations, but after all that was inevitable, and it is disquieting to note that the cancellation was not made without conditions. It might better be termed a reduction in reparations since Germany has still to find the sum of three milliards of marks. The slate was not wiped clean and recognition of this fact—which has not been given much prominence—lessens the effect of the word. Inspiring statements by the delegates. Yesterday's cables state that France has congratulated her Premier on making the best of a bad bargain and that the reception of the news from Lausanne was far from joyous, it being claimed that France has given up much and received nothing. On the other hand Germany is divided, the Moderates being thankful for the relief given and the Nationalists being furious with Herr Von Papen for abandoning the political demands. As the German elections take place at the end of the month this "fury" may be attended with disastrous consequences and it will be an anxious moment while the world waits to ascertain whether Germany is satisfied with "half-a-loaf." If not, Adolf Hitler will realize his ambition and with the Nazis in power the work of Lausanne will be undone at a single stroke. That Germany possessed a grievance few will deny, but now that the oppression which shackled the progress and recovery of a defeated nation has been removed (partially, if not wholly) it remains to be seen whether the relief is deemed sufficient. Hitler has lost some of his appeal through the Lausanne agreement but he can still argue a grievance of the pavement still demanded and the refusal of Germany's plea for abolition of the Versailles Treaty—a request which cannot be lightly dismissed. If Hitler is elected, and the event is far from improbable, Franco-German relations will develop past the present tension point and open rupture would result.

The third resolution of the Agreement will be generally approved and commended and the reconstruction of Eastern and South-Eastern Europe cannot be too quickly accomplished. Austria and her neighbouring countries are in urgent need of relief, and the remedy has been already delayed too long. Upon the fifth resolution—hopes for the future are based, and the World Economic and Financial Conference which is to be called should supplement the preliminary work at Lausanne. It is only through international co-operation, and a new spirit of mutual aid and concession that the present crisis will be overcome and a return made to world recovery. There were many disappointments at Lausanne but at least the way has been opened for arrival at some definite agreement at the coming Conferences.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The marriage of Mr. Roman Manalac of Manila, to Miss Romilia Elarte, 117 and 118, Gloucester Road, will take place at St. Joseph's Church, on Sunday, 17th instant, at 9.00 a.m. No invitation cards are being issued, but all friends will be welcome at the ceremony and afterwards at the reception at Lane, Crawford's, Exchange Building.

GENERAL TSAI
WELCOMEDLocal Village Club
En Fete.

The Tak Hing and Nam Kong Village Club, 4 Gage Street was decorated on Thursday morning on the occasion of welcoming General Tsai Ting-kai.

At the entrance a rectangular structure of fresh flowers, which bore the characters "Welcome to General Tsai" was erected.

General Tsai spoke, after which a group photograph was taken. Tea was served.

News in Brief.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Ishibashi arrived from Yokohama on the s.s. Hakusan Maru yesterday.

Mr. A. Van Kuyl was a passenger on the N.Y.K. liner Hakusan Maru which arrived from Japan and Shanghai yesterday.

Mrs. Olga A. Lieverst was among the arrivals in Hong Kong yesterday on board the s.s. Hakusan Maru from Yokohama, via ports.

Mr. C. E. Coelho, storekeeper of the Hongkong Electric Company at Shaukiwan, has reported to the Police the loss of clothing, to the total value of $80.

Mr. Damerat, of 22 Somerset Road also in Kowloon Tong, reported the loss of a clock, valued at $25, from his sitting room, between 11.30 a.m. and 1.30 p.m. yesterday.

The theft of a portable gramophone, valued at $200, from his sitting room, at his residence 14 Boundary Road, Kowloon Tong, yesterday, has been reported to the Police by Mr. Lyon.

Knocked down by an earth truck at the junction of Yue Chow Street and Nam Cheung Street, Shamshui-wo district, a girl, named Chan Yuen-lui (11) residing at an unnumbered but in Kip Sui Mei, sustained injuries to her left leg and back and was removed to the Kowloon Hospital.

The body of an unknown Chinese male was found by the Police hanging from the branch of a tree on vacant land at the junction of Prince Edward Road and Tam Kung Road, Kowloon City district. The body which was strung by the neck by rope, was removed to the Kowloon Public Mortuary, suicide is suspected.

Lui Wah (35) a male, living at 45 Bulkley Street, was fatally injured when he fell down the hold on board the Blue Funnel steamer Tyndarone, lying at Taikee Docks. The accident, which was reported to the Police by Mr. G. T. Bird, head watchman, occurred at 4 p.m. on Friday and the man died in the Government Civil Hospital an hour and a half later.

BANISHEE IS GIVEN SENTENCE

Cheong Ping, a banishee from the Federated Malay States who was sent to Canton, was arrested by an Indian Constable on Wellington Street yesterday for the theft of a fountain pen.

Fung Chuen Ming, the plaintiff, asserted that the accused had grabbed the pen from his coat pocket and made off with the article wrapped in a newspaper. He gave chase and with the help of a constable apprehended the defendant. Accused was sentenced to six months hard labour by Mr. Wynne Jones.

History of the Hong Kong
Chinese Club

[To the Editor, "Sunday Herald."]
Dear Sir,—I hope you and your Chinese and foreign readers find the enclosed letter interesting.

TSE TSAN TAI.

Hong Kong, 9th July, 1932.

The Secretary,
The Hongkong Chinese Club,
No. 6, Des Voeux Road Central,
Hong Kong.

Dear Sir,—I notice in the "Tsau Wan Yat Po" and other local Chinese newspapers of the 18th October, 1930 that my old friend Sir Robert Ho Tung has made mention of my name in his speech, when referring to the founders of the Hongkong Chinese Club, at the meeting which was held on the 10th October, 1930 in celebration of the anniversary of the Chinese Republic.

Being advanced in years, and since time waits for no man, I believe it is now my duty, after 38 years silence, to publish the facts connected with the history of the founding of the Hongkong Chinese Club for the information of its members and the Chinese Community of this Colony.

In January 1898, Mr. Tse Tsan Tai issued a circular advocating the formation of a Chinese Library and Reading Room to be used as a Social Club. One of the objects was:—"To encourage special intercourse between Chinese and Europeans." (See local newspapers—English).

A Working Committee of over fifty leading gentlemen of the Colony actively canvassed for members and financial support. Owing to lack of financial support, the Library movement was shelved, and it was decided to push on with the Social Club. See List of promoters (Enc. No. 1).

In August 1898, Mr. Tse Tsan Tai discussed with Messrs. Leung Jan Fan, Mok Man Cheung and Ng Kwai Shang the importance of establishing a representative Club for the Chinese in the Colony to be called The Hongkong Chinese Club.

On the 20th August, 1898, Mr. Tse Tsan Tai discussed the matter with Mr. Cheung Tsoi, and a definite plan of campaign was decided upon. See Mr. Cheung Tsoi's letter of 20/8/98 to Mr. Tse Tsan Tai (Enc. No. 2). See "A well-wisher's" letter in the "Hongkong Daily Press" of 8/11/98 (Enc. No. 3).

The first meeting of the Promoters was held at No. 35, Praya Central, the Office of the Kowloon Mining Co., on 10th September, 1898, at 6.45 p.m. There were present:—Messrs. Tse Tsan Tai, Cheung Tsoi, Leung Jan Fan, Luk Ming Po, Lo Tat and Li Hong Mi. (See Mr. Tse Tsan Tai's circular letter dated 17/9/98).

On the 25th October, 1898, permission was obtained from Mr. G. H. B. Wright, D.D. to hold a meeting of the members in the Hall of Queen's College.

On the 6th November, 1898 at 2 p.m., 38 members attended the meeting which was held in the Hall of Queen's College.

The following were elected members of the First Committee:—Messrs. Tse Tsan Tai, Lo U Sing, Luk King Fo, Chow Kam Wing, Chan Wei Son and Cheung Lai Pan. Mr. Li Hong Mi (Chairman). Mr. Ng Kwai Shang (Vice Chairman).

Mr. Cheung Tsoi (Secretary). Mr. Wong Hoi Pang (Treasurer). This Committee held office until the 14th January, 1899, when a new Committee was elected for the year 1899.

See Report of this meeting (Enc. No. 4).

See Mr. Tse Tsan Tai's letter of thanks to Dr. Wright (Enc. No. 5).

See 2 letter of 14/11/98 from Mr. Cheung Tsoi (Enc. No. 6).

See Mr. Tse Tsan Tai's letter to Hon. Mr. Ho Kai dated 24/12/98 (Enc. No. 7).

See Note from Mr. Claude Loy Kum dated 20/12/98, intimating Mr. Ho Tung's wish to see Mr. Tse Tsan Tai (Enc. No. 8).

See Mr. Tse Tsan Tai's letter to Mr. Ho Tung dated 27/12/98 (Enc. No. 9).

See Mr. Ho Tung's letter of 27/12/98 to Mr. Tse Tsan Tai, assuring him of his support (Enc. No. 10).

On the 1st May, 1899, the first promises were rented at No. 71, Wyndham Street. The first General Meeting of the year was held on Sunday, 14th May, 1899 at 8 (Continued at foot of next column.)

[To the Editor, "Sunday Herald."]

Hong Kong, 4th July, 1932.

Sir,—Will you please do so good as to allow me to communicate through the medium of the columns of your valuable paper my sincere thanks to all those who have so kindly forwarded subscriptions towards the relief of some 500 of Britain's aged War Horses in Egypt. A copy of the acknowledgment from London will on receipt be sent by me to each subscriber.

Valuable and faithful services were rendered by our horses in the Great War and the matter of their release from their present pitiful and most regrettable plight is one that deserves the fullest support of every animal lover, I think.

I much appreciate your kindness, Sir, in publishing my recent letter with enclosure. Such action is characteristic of the local Press in every deserving cause.

Yours, etc.,

had been about to seize the telephone as he felt the ship going at about to the men at the controls inside the warning: "Keep aloft." But he had no time. He was tossed off into the sea.

Immediately after he was picked up, he joined in with the rescue party and assisted operations.

The four hatches of the submarine were closed as she sank, it is believed. But the generally accepted theory is that, through some technical error, the ship dived with the hatches open. "I am Lieutenant du Mesnil, Commander of the Promethee. My submarine has just sunk."

This was the dramatic utterance gasped out to the skipper of the fishing boat "Yette" by one of the men he picked up, and was the first intimation of the tragedy.

Heard Cries For Help.
The skipper stated that he was fishing when he heard desperate calls for help, and, climbing up the mast, saw seven dots in the water. He succeeded in saving all seven men, who were in the last stages of exhaustion. Some burst into tears after their ordeal.

Commander du Mesnil is reported to have declared the catastrophe was inexplicable. Some mistake must have been made, for the submarine was sailing normally on the surface, with 10 men on the bridge, when suddenly he felt the vessel plunge beneath his feet. She disappeared in a few seconds, in 150 feet of water.

Personal Pars.

In the list of Birthday Honours mentioned in The Times of June 3rd, we notice the name of Mr. A. H. Proce, M.I.C.E., M.I.E.E., the Senior partner of Messrs. Proce, Cardow & Rider, the well-known firm of Consulting Engineers to the Crown Agents for the Colonies, who had the Honour of Knight Bachelor conferred on him by His Majesty the King on the recommendation of the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

p.m., when Mr. Ho Tung was elected Chairman. See Mr. Ho Tung's letter of 16/5/98 to Mr. Tse Tsan Tai re (Enc. No. 9), Sinking Fund. The Club was removed from 71, Wyndham Street to Nos. 66 and 68, Queen's Road Central on the 27th June, 1899, where numerous Chinese and Foreign notabilities and visitors have been welcomed and entertained.

It is most gratifying to be informed that the Club has now a Building Fund amounting to the handsome total of over $200,000.00, and the membership has increased from 88 to 700!

Please accept my heartiest congratulations. Hoping that the Hongkong Chinese Club will soon be able to own and function in its new premises, and with best wishes for the continued success and prosperity of the Club and its members.

I remain,
Yours very sincerely,
Tse Tsan Tai.

Return Of Short Skirt Predicted

Straight Lines In Day And Evening Clothes

Summer Fashions

Cotton Soaring To Greater Heights

SOME of the leading Dress Designers are foreshadowing the return of the short, or shorter skirt. Anyway some of the newest models for out-door wear are shorter than they were last year. Everywhere one hears rumours of shorter skirts, smart summer frocks may be about 14 inches from the floor, but it is still a little early to make a definite statement on this all-enthralling subject. There are leading houses who are still showing hems only 10 and 12 inches from the floor, but Captain Molyneux, the well-known Englishman who has returned to London after winning an overwhelming success in Paris, is sponsoring skirts that stop only three or four inches below the knee. Above all he emphasises straight lines in both day and evening clothes.

High Waists Prevail

The higher waistlines continue to be the vogue. Dressmakers' individual interpretation of the "mode" varies inasmuch as some fit the figure very closely from just below the bust to the waist. A newer way is to drape wide belts of self fabric round the waist and fasten at the back with buttons. There is another way of obtaining the wide top effect by widening not only the shoulders but the chest above the bust by the addition of little wing or puff sleeves cut in one with the upper part of the bodice, which mounts in a button triangular plastron both front and back.

Colour Contrasts

Colour holds a unique place in the scheme of things, and Englishwomen are at last beginning to realise the tremendous value in the bold and subtle colour contrasts that are beginning to creep into all the latest modes. Colour permeates everything nowadays, properly planned and disposed it can re-value a house, can give light, lend warmth, persuade the eye and at the same time be really restful. Glass, China, linen have all been won over in the colour offensive and now it is claiming dress. In the old days it did not matter much if all ones accessories did not match, such as a bag, shoes, hat, etc., but to-day the smart and knowledgeable woman plans her toilette with a critical eye to the harmonious whole. Colour balance is a wonderful thing, and to-day every woman has the chance of acquiring it. After a trying Winter at home clothes need cheering up to meet Spring sunshine on an equal footing. Out here, also, one gets tired of the eternal white suits of the male population, so that it is up to us to plan some cheerful frocks. But by that I mean cheering up discreetly, and with a view to meeting adequately all likely occasions with good taste and without extravagance.

This is to be a Cotton Year.

Last Summer cottons began to come to the fore, but this year it is soaring to far greater heights. Cotton weaves in many varieties will be used in quite a new range of styles. The cotton era is good news for us in this climate as it is by far the best material both from coolness and a economy point of view. A cotton frock is so easily made to look clean and fresh once more. Once a favourite cotton voile begins to look tired just a very little bit of Colmans starch added to the water will put new life into it and make it iron up again like new. For morning frocks Tootals coloured pique is a delightful material, as being of the solid type it will not crush or show signs of the weather. It is sold in all sorts of beautiful shades, some of which may be obtained locally. Ribbons are slotted through collarless rounded necks and tied in a small bow. Collar ends are left loose and merely crossed and held in place with a loop of material or a scarf ring.

Narrow frills are popular on the early Summer frocks, the hem, neck and sleeves may all be edged with inch wide frills. Some jumpers have narrow double frills round the neckline and at the cuffs of long sleeves, while puff sleeves are finished off with tiny frills.

Evening Fashions.

Evening fashions seem to be definitely divided into two groups, and there is the most amazing contrast in evening gowns at the moment. There are frocks for "big" and "little" occasions. Paradoxically enough the more formal the occasion the more simple the gown. Thus a slightly trailing gown is chosen for an important occasion, which gains distinction merely from the various diagonal cuts making it accentuate the wearers line rather than from any trimming. Few jewels are worn, at most a ring or two and a clip. For little evenings which include a dinner at an hotel or restaurant and a cinema show afterwards, a short sleeved evening frock might well be chosen, with this may be worn a

White Frocks For Every Day

THE white frock for every day has become as much a part of the sartorial round as the white frock for evenings. The difficulty is to express differences while keeping the frock simple and to have enough white frocks to look fresh and yet not to cost too much. Home dressmaking comes in here and so also does home washing. Some of the most useful white frocks are made of pique, both in broad and narrow lines. This is easy to cut from a pattern; it does not crumple as much as do many cottons, and it is easy to wash and iron. Most dresses of this material are made with the bias cut, which gives a god and easy fit, and most of them depend for their effect upon careful seaming. There may be a big A of seams over the whole front of the dress, while in other cases remaining radiates from the point of the V neck or perhaps from one hip. With the stuff on the flat this is not difficult to compass.

Sleeve Styles.

Other touches, which differentiate one white dress from another, lie in the treatment of the sleeve, which is frequently of the Magyar shape or, it may be, not much more than an epaulet. An astonishing amount of variety may be obtained by means of an epaulet. In some cases coloured sleeves are used with white frocks. This usually implies the short sleeve, which may be wholly of striped or spotted stuff, or may merely have insets or borderings of colour. A charming pique frock can be made with a square neck and with a couple of slashes of dark blue just where the sleeves join on. Necks of various kinds are fitted with brilliantly coloured scarves which outline them: Coral and white spots, emerald and white, are used and give a gay colour note. The waistcoat idea is used freely, and the points below the waist sometimes have a touch of colour. Three or four white frocks of this description add very greatly to the Summer wardrobe.

Cotton Frocks For Evening

EXTREMELY interesting is the new fashion for cotton frocks at night.

Not long ago a well-known Society girl wore a frock of flowered cotton most successfully. It was trimmed with a bustle, giving an effect as quaint as it was unconventional.

Many frills look well in fine cotton materials, and anyone who seeks novelties should certainly make what use she can of cotton fabrics in gowns slim at the waist, perhaps with a berth, and certainly with a skirt nicely tailored and allowing many stiff folds to the ankles.

turban-head-dress and a necklace and bracelet or two.

White is being worn a great deal and the evening coat has definitely given place to the cape. Some of these capes reach only to the elbows and are edged with light or dark fur. Others are longer, cape-wraps made of chiffon velvet. Some of the all white evening gowns have tube skirts which give a very slim line to the wearer, these are usually Empire waisted and most becoming, smart.

Frocks That Ring The Changes

IF you want a frock capable of "ringing the changes" by the aid of its varying belts, bows, odd cuffs and a variety of collars, then be sure that the foundation garment is right. A tailored frock of dark blue marocain is in great demand in this connection.

The frock should be cut more or less straight from shoulder to hem, with seams around the sides, and a slight pouch at the back. Sleeves which billow at the elbow are set into tight wristlets making just the "ground" for innumerable additions.

Light-weight tweed is graceful when made with a basque at the hips, and a skirt godetted, or slightly flared; while an eminently wearable town frock is of heavy crepe, in a dark colour, and with as high a waistline as suits the wearer. Plain frocks are just as smart.

New Ideas Regarding Dressiness

A SCARF made of small bands sewn closely on a gaily striped foundation, lined with crepe-de-chine to match the suit or frock.

Knee-length tunics of crepe-de-chine or satin, worn with fine woolen skirts and knee-length coats.

Tippets with stand-up collars made of coloured velvet to wear with evening frocks.

A walking skirt made in ten shaped gores, the seams pressed to stand out like umbrella gores instead of being pressed flat.

An evening decollete outlined with flat muslin flowers, and held over the shoulders by thin straps, each of which develops into three slender strings that reach to the waist at the back.

Extravagant Belts Permissible

AN evening gown which is really very "kind" to the average figure is the type that is not too tightly girded about the hips. And since many seams and insets at the hips are often hideous for any but the really slim, the loose line is well liked—for a change. The skirt flows to a wider hem, and often the waist to new frocks is high in front but dips behind.

Extravagance in the way of belts is quite permissible this season. Strips of varnished satin or ashes of figured silks, trim the humblest material, but if the frock is not cotton, then velvet or dull crepe is attractive, and lace is pretty as a hip bow, or a twisted sash.

STEEL buckles on the cream-coloured slippers of Mrs. Eldon King match the feather-made of cut steel beads on her hat. Her dark blue suit is trimmed with large cuffs of Kolinski fur. She wears a blouse of cream lace.

SCHOOL EXCURSION TO CANTONStudents Organize Outing.

GOOD-WILL ENTERPRISE

An excursion to Canton has been organized by the Chak Kwan Public Free School. This excursion is solely for local students, both boys and girls, during their summer vacation time. The excursion lasts 4 days.

The purposes of the excursion are to unite and promote good feeling between the Canton and Hong Kong students; to learn more of the nature of the country and people.

All expenses incurred are to be met by collection by the officers elected by the School itself. Each student is required to pay $15, which pays for three meals a day and travelling expenses. Date of the excursion has been fixed for Wednesday, July 20. The party will leave here by night boat and return on Sunday, July 24.

On July 21 they will visit Dr. Sun's Memorial Hall, Yick Shan Garden, Kwangtung Museum, High Normal Girls' School, Central University, and in the afternoon, will picnic at a Western Suburb and Tiffin Po Han Tea House. At night there will be a basketball exhibition by the excursion party.

On July 22 they will arrive at the Shek Cheng Arsenal, the first Provincial Middle School, Ling Nam University, Cement Works, Airplane Factory and Lichee Bay at night, in turn.

On July 23 they go to Wong Fa Kong to worship the 72 martyrs, Chap Shun Girls' School, White Cloud Mountain.

On July 24 they will see the Waterworks, Orphan Asylum and Lunatic Asylum.

Well Organized. This excursion is said to be very elaborately organized. All educational organizations in Canton have been informed of it. In the party are one leader, one assistant, one Chinese secretary, one foreign secretary, one social leader in charge of finance and one basketball leader. A Chinese and foreign doctor will render service in case of necessity.

Apart from the regular charge to every student, a lump sum has been donated—sympathetic persons—to meet extra expenses. It is known that there are about 60 students, most of them are leaders of different schools, who will participate in the excursion.

TIRED OF TRAVEL.

Long Tour to End in Hong Kong.

Mme. Renee Chemet, with the soul of a great musician, who lives for her music, but who is more than glad that her long tour is completed when she leaves Hong Kong, loves her home and things home-like, next to her violin.

Mme. Chemet, at present staying at the Repulse Bay Hotel, granted an exclusive interview to the China Mail yesterday. She is happy when she plays, she says. But she is tired. She wants to finish with this travel, this perpetual jumping from hotel to ship, from ship to shore, from train to ship again.

She told of her successes in Japan, of her nine concerts in that country, all in the principal cities. Never less than five and sometimes seven and eight encores would be demanded, and she tells with some amusement of an appearance in Japan where she thought that light music would be more appreciated but instead the people clamoured for Bach, Beethoven, Mozart and others. She played in four nights what it had taken her a lifetime to learn.

Ten Months' Travel. Her present tour, ending in Hong Kong, started in London last September where she played with Sir Henry Wood, famed music master of England, and before whom she had played when she was only 14 years old. She told, with a reminiscent smile, how odd it seemed to play again with the famous master in that same auditorium and before much the same audience.

When Madame Chemet's brother was killed during the Great War she was studying E. Chausson's "Poeme" to ease her feelings, and to smother her grief, she put her very soul into the composition. Recognised as one of the "heaviest" creations of Chausson and generally scarcely appreciated by the layman, this is a tender passionate and heart-rending selection to which only one like Chemet can do credit.

When asked what country she preferred by play in, Mme. Chemet replied that she seemed to appeal most to Anglo-Saxon peoples, and most of her successes had been while playing before the British public.

FULL COURT
THIS MONTHC.N.C. v. N.Y.K.
Appeal.

$40,000 CLAIM

Sir Peter Grain, Chief Justice of H.B.M. Supreme Court in Shanghai is expected in the Colony shortly to sit in the Full Court here, together with the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, and the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice Wood.

Two important appeals will be heard, and a lengthy hearing is anticipated in each case, the first of which commences on July 18.

The first hearing will be that of the China Navigation Co. v. the N.Y.K. arising out of the collision in the Hong Kong harbour between the Toyooka Maru and the Kuigau. When the case was heard in original jurisdiction, judgment for the China Navigation Co. for claim and costs was awarded by Sir Joseph Kemp, the suit being for $40,000. A counter claim for $40,554 was entered by the N.Y.K., who are now to appeal against the former verdict.

Mr. Eldon Potter and Mr. F. C. Jenkin will appear for the China Navigation Co., and Mr. H. G. Sheldon for the N.Y.K.

Chinese.

A gift of 60,000 steel helmets is reported to have been contributed to the equipment of the 19th Route Army by the Oversea Chinese.

The helmets are for use in the drive against the Communists and bandits, which will shortly be started in the Province, and it is stated that they have been dispatched to Fukien by the Ministry of War at Nanking.

Going Back to France.

After leaving Hong Kong, Madame Chemet and her accompanist, Anca Seidova, who has been with her for eight years and is her companion as well as pianist, will sail for "her France," to rest. She sailed on the Hakusan Maru yesterday.

Another concert tour will start in September next. She hopes to be able to return to Hong Kong then. Many others hope so, too.

The agreement goes farther than that, containing five resolutions, in all, embracing a variety of matters, political and economic. It contains an understanding between the central Powers for assisting the eastern and south-eastern states' re-establishment.

The agreement is interpreted as being a great stride towards closer international understanding and one of the surest means for the preservation of peace.

London, Paris, Washington, Rome all are jubilant. In the House of Commons Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas interrupted the debate on the Irish Duties Bill to announce the settlement, amid the cheers of the members.

Impediment to Europe. The reparations problem has been one of the chief impediments to political and economic recovery in Europe since the war.

The news has been received in London with intense satisfaction, particularly in view of the prominent part taken by the British Minister in the prolonged negotiations of the past few days.

At Lausanne intense enthusiasm prevailed. Although the issue was in doubt until the end a more favourable atmosphere was reached when the chief French delegate, M. Herriot, met Premier Ramsay MacDonald this morning to resume negotiations which were continued far into night.

The German Chancellor, Herr Von Papen was in communication with his Cabinet colleagues at Berlin while these conversations were in progress during the afternoon, and thereafter rapid progress was made.

Shortly after luncheon, Premier Herriot was able to inform waiting journalists that an agreement had been reached.

HOPE LEADS IN KING'S

Second.

42 PILOTS START.

London, Friday. W. L. Hope, piloting a Fox Moth with a Gipsy Third engine, led the field after the first day's flying in the King's Cup/Air Race. The Prince of Wales' aeroplane finished second. It is a Comper Swift monoplane, fitted with a 120 h.p. Gipsy III engine.

The first of 42 aeroplanes competing for the King's Cup left Brooklands at 8 a.m. to-day.

The first section which will be flown to-day will total 725 miles whilst the second section to-morrow will be 495 miles. To-day's route is by way of Brighton, Portsmouth, Bristol, Birmingham, Liverpool, Manchester, Leigh, Northampton and the back to Brooklands.

Particular interest is being displayed in the machine entered by the Prince of Wales, Comper Swift monoplane, coloured red, white and blue, and fitted with a 120 H. P. Gipsy III engine.

Each pilot, in order to compete in this year's event, had to possess more than 100 hours flying experience, and his machine was required to do a minimum of 110 miles hour.

Light aeroplanes figured prominently, but Puss Moths had serious competition in nine Comper Swifts, probably the smallest machines in world.

At the end of to-day's flying the lead was held by W. L. Hope in a Fox Moth, Gipsy III, whose time was 15 hours, 14 minutes, 41 seconds. The Prince's machine was second, its time being 15 hours 23 minutes 28 seconds—British Wireless Service.

BOYCOTT OF CANTON
HARDWAREAction By Local Dealers.

APPLICATION REFUSED

A letter to the effect that for the time being no hardware will be imported in order to resist a Likin Duty imposed by the tax farmer, known as the On Lee Company, was received by the Hong Kong Hardware Dealers from the Canton Hardware Guild on Thursday.

In connection with the letter, an application has been submitted to the Finance Department by the hardware guild with a view to the cancellation of the privilege of the On Lee Company, stating that they wish to take up the duty themselves with 7 per cent. added to the original rate.

The application was refused. The Guild is now taking steps to stop importing and notification has been given to the local hardware dealers to boycott Canton, dealers, by not exporting any hardware. This took effect from July 7.

According to the Guild's report, the supply of hardware in Canton is enough to last for a year.

FORMER GOVERNOR TO VISIT

Mr. Chu Ching Lan, a former Governor of Kwangtung Province, will arrive here on July 11 aboard a.s. President Hoover.

He is an active member of the Anti-War convention by which he is delegated to carry out an anti-war mission in places about China.

Dance. This latter is something of an innovation on the part of the Club, and it is hoped that it will be well supported by Members. Music will be provided by the Club's Radio Gramophone, which has just undergone overhaul. A new loud speaker has been purchased and installed in the Club, and should materially improve the quality of the music.

Full details regarding the two Concerts will be issued later. These will be open air Concerts (weather permitting) and arrangements are in the capable hands of Mr. W. R. Fleming.

MOTORING SECTION

HONG KONG, JULY 10, 1932.

'AUTOMATIC CLUTCH' CHRYSLER.

Saloon With Fool-Proof Gears.

BRITISH—ASSEMBLED.

From the very earliest days of motoring, engineers have sought to provide cars with an automatic change-speed mechanism.

It has been left to the Chrysler Corporation to popularise such a simple solution of the gear changing problem that it is a wonder that it did not make its appearance years ago. A clutch and gearbox of normal type, with all their essential simplicity, are provided, the only novelty being in their operation. The clutch is withdrawn by induction-pump suction when the engine is idling, and a free wheel is located at the rear of the gearbox. The result is that when free-wheeling, the clutch is automatically withdrawn so soon as the engine speed falls to idling rate, and all gears in the gearbox are consequently at a complete standstill.

What is more, gear changing, in consequence, is literally and absolutely fool-proof. As the gearbox is connected, when free-wheeling, neither with the engine nor with the rear wheels, the gear lever can be moved freely in and out of every gear, regardless of road or engine speed. What is more, it is impossible by changing down prematurely into bottom gear, to over-rev the engine, because the drive is not taken up until the engine is accelerated to the correct speed relative to the road speed of the car.

Driving the Chrysler with the automatic clutch and free wheel is unbelievably simple. The engine is started up and, without touching the clutch, first gear is engaged. This is made possible by the fact that as the engine is only ticking over the clutch is automatically withdrawn. All the driver then has to do is to accelerate the engine, when the clutch takes up smoothly and the car moves off.

Gear-Changing Without Tears.

When it is desired to change up, the gear lever is simply moved into second gear position, and when top gear is required the lever is simply moved into the top gear notch. That is all. What is more, exactly the same procedure is adopted when changing down. There is no need to touch the clutch pedal at all, nor is there any need for any finesse in manipulating the accelerator pedal.

So far, so good," the reader will say; "but what about the brakes?"

For so long, one of the greatest arguments against free-wheeling has been the often erroneous assumption that a great deal of braking power is lost unless the engine is in gear when the brakes are applied. We, writes a tester of the "Motor," had already noticed on other free wheel cars that this was not the case, and on the Chrysler we made a point of carrying out severe tests, repeating them two or three times at each speed, as a result of which we found that there was absolutely no difference between braking with the free wheel locked or in its normal position.

At all ordinary speeds the car pulled up equally straight and as steadily whatever the position of the dash-operated free-wheel control. It was only when coming to an abrupt stop from 60 m.p.h. or thereabouts that there was a very slight tendency for the car to "wander" when the free wheel was in operation.

The Menace Of The Motor Car

Bully Drivers In New York Streets

DANGERS OF CROSSING IN MIDDLE OF BLOCK

PEDESTRIAN'S INDIGNATION IS JUSTIFIABLE.

The bullying manner in which many drivers in New York turn corners probably causes more pedestrians to lose more tempers than any other traffic practice. When a man on foot waits for his illuminated permission to cross a street or avenue and then, as he is about to step from the curb, is forced to jump back to avoid some car swinging into a turn from any lane at all, without even the pretense of slowing down, the pedestrian is humanly and rightfully indignant.

Impulsively he calls the driver names — and he would do things to him, too, if the offending car would only wait for him to swing a stick or find a rock to throw. And when one automobile after another cuts around the corner in disregard of the pedestrian's privilege to cross the street under the supposed protection of the lights, patience is overwhelmed by natural rage, which is the more overwhelming because of its impotence.

There is no denying that the pedestrian's indignation is justifiable. And his life is endangered by cars that cut into turns without any waiting or warning at all. Many of those who walk the streets, perhaps some of those who so warmly resent the attack of turning cars, habitually cross streets and avenues in the middle of the block. Because of the menace of automobiles that run through prohibitory lights and ignore pedestrians on turns, they insist that it is really safer to cross in the middle of a block than at the intersection ahead. They are prepared to argue their case.

Statistics.

In the Police Department's periodical the causes and the number of deaths resulting from each are listed as follows:—

Crossing in the middle of the block, 241; crossing against lights, 231; various causes at crossing, 167; collisions, 155; running off sidewalk into roadway, 68; sports and games in the roadway, 58; reckless driving, 41; skidding, 32; defective brakes, 29; coming from behind parked automobiles, 23; falling from vehicles, 21; Vehicles making turns, 19; all other causes, 135.

Inevitable Exposure. How many of the 241 persons killed while crossing in the middle of blocks were struck while crossing when the lights gave right of way to the vehicles striking them? If for example, the lights are green in an avenue, the pedestrian who attempts to cross the avenue in the middle of a block inevitably exposes himself to cars hurrying to cover as many blocks as possible before the lights turn red. But suppose a pedestrian on a sidewalk sees the lights on the avenue go red.

Block Crossing. This practice of crossing in the middle of a block when traffic is stopped by red is not recommended. If those who walk on the city's streets want to be absolutely safe from the attack of automobiles, the only thing for them to do is stay at home.

It would be interesting to know, however, how many of the 241 persons killed in the middle of blocks were struck while crossing against traffic favoured by (Continued in Next Column.)

SOVIET MOTOR WORKS FIASCO

Inquiry Into Failure of Mass Production.

As a result of an investigation into the reasons why the Nizhni Novgorod Motor Works (claimed to be the greatest in Europe) still cannot begin mass production, the Soviet Government has issued orders to collect a number of engineers and specialists who are now employed in constructing works in other parts of Russia and bring them back to Nizhni to finish their job, as the motor work "cannot in any sense be regarded as completed."

The report of the investigators states that it is a mass production factory par excellence, with hundreds of conveyors, but only two conveyors might possibly work, and even these are not working. There is not room to turn round comfortably anywhere owing to accumulations of rubbish and unfinished parts, which the men strive to shift about by hand as the works have not any workable cranes or anything in proper working condition.

The report adds that conditions inside and outside the buildings are most deplorable. There is no appreciable improvement in the living conditions of the workpeople. The barracks have not sufficient beds, are filthy and infested with vermin, and have no regular water supply. "Drunkenness, fighting, stealing, and card-playing are the chief amusements of the workers inhabiting them."

The works were opened on New Year's Day with orders to produce 50,000 cars in 1932. The report states that they still hope to produce 2,000 before the end of the month. Twenty-five thousand regular workers have been on the pay roll since January.

(Continued from previous Column.) lights and how many were the victims of automobiles facing red. It seems fair to assume that the greater number were fighting cars running on green, and from this assumption the only moral to be drawn is that if a pedestrian insists on crossing in the middle of a block he should at least choose to do so when the lights in the thoroughfare he crosses are red.

FLOATING POWER WANTED.

Two Schools of Motor Thought.

RUBBERISED SUSPENSION.

Detroit, Mich., May 4. Licensing of the French automobile builder, Citroen, to use two-point rubber motor suspension, or "floating power," on new models may signal a campaign by Chrysler Motors to market the application to other manufacturers.

At present the motor-mounting method is held as an exclusive feature for cars in the family. Regardless of whether engineers agree that the Chrysler principle of suspension is a fundamental step in the right direction, either through smoothing the power impulses or by separation of the plant from the frame, is fundamentally a step in the right direction.

Eight, 12 and 16-cylinder motors have been developed to smooth the power flow. Now, if it is found possible to achieve the same result along an altogether different line, the conception of the automobile of the future must undergo a radical revision.

The thought may seem heretical to the layman, but if a vibration-roof motor mount can be perfected, here is no practical reason for more than a two-cylinder motor. Certainly, a motor of that kind could be built to produce the required power. There have in the past existed two schools of thought on motor mounting. One felt the answer lay in yoking the motor as solidly as possible to the frame to overcome vibration by mass weight and rigidity. The other school attempted to divorce motor vibration from the body.

Simple Plan. The Chrysler staff of engineers under Fred M. Zeder early became converts of the latter. They were the first to bonderize metal to rubber and to adapt the combination to mountings. Unusual ideas went into 2,000 test cars, some of them to be discarded and others to be placed on the shelf for future reference.

As a result, the corporation and its young engineer, Roger K. Lee, hold amazingly broad rights covering 100 points on motor mounting. Seventy-five per cent. of the production passenger cars are paying royalties against these patents.

Speaking of the two-point motor suspension, Lee declares the plan comparatively simple, since it involves only the application of nature's law of "balance" around a fixed centre of gravity.

"Vertical vibration does not exist to the same extent in the six and eight. In the larger cars we eliminated torque reaction and valve and transmission noises. The eight presented the most difficult production task because of the necessity for obtaining fine balance with a longer crankshaft."

The first of the Packard twin six passenger cars, announced at the shows but not placed on the market, rolled off the assembly line here last week. Regular production run will start Monday, with the company holding orders on file to assure a 90-day schedule. The advance orders were booked without a demonstration.

A road test showed the car extremely easy to operate despite its weight of almost three tons and with surprisingly rapid acceleration. The speedometer needle climbed from five to 30 miles an hour in high gear in seven seconds. Top is around 90. The car is on 147 inches and the 12 cylinders develop 100 horsepower at 3,200 revolutions per minute.

Fierce Duel Of Sexes At Brooklands

Remarkable Successes Of Two British Women

1,000 MILES MOTOR RACE

ONLY SEVEN FINISH IN JUNIOR CAR CLUB EVENT.

London, June 6. Fresh motoring history was made at Brooklands when two women drivers, at the wheel of a four-cylinder Riley car, scored a sensational victory over the best of Britain's racing drivers. It was in the annual 1,000 miles handicap race of the Junior Car Club. Sixty cars started, and the drivers included Sir Malcolm Campbell, Earl Howe, Sir Henry Birkin, G.E.T. Eyston, John Cobb, C. M. Harvey, Norman Black, Brian E. Lewis, and A.O. Saunders Davies. In this field, the Riley, driven by Mrs. E. Wisdom and Miss Joan Richmond, won by two laps. Mrs. Wisdom previously had been successful in minor events, but never before had she participated in a grueling international affair. Miss Richmond is the Anzac who drove a Riley overland from Australia to Monte Carlo in the "rally."

Sir Malcolm Campbell was the backmarker, his supercharged Mercedes being handicapped to lap the track at 96.9 m.p.h. The winning Riley car had a start of 2 hr. 17 min. 50 sec. on him, and was handicapped to lap at 79 m.p.h. Each car had two drivers and it was a two-day race of approximately six hours driving each day, 400 times round the track, making in all a distance of 1,046 miles.

Inexplicable Tragedy.

Tragedy marked the first morning's run, when Henry Lee, at the wheel of his M.G. car, while lapping at 80 m.p.h., was killed. It was the most inexplicable accident that has been seen at Brooklands. He was approaching the dangerous bend which opens into the finishing straight, and for some unknown reason he failed to take the bend. His car rushed across the track and crashed into the stone parapet, with the driver apparently sitting listlessly at the wheel. There was no sign on the track of a serious skid, and it has been suggested that he died of heart failure at the wheel.

At the end of the first day, the positions of the leaders were:—

1. Major C. M. Harvey and Mr. R. M. Sutton (Riley).
2. Mr. Brian Lewis and Mr. J. Cobb (Talbot).
3. Mr. A. O. Saunders Davies (Talbot).
4. Mrs. Wisdom and Miss Richmond (Riley).

Mrs. Wisdom in the first three hours had gained the leading place. Then she was relieved by Miss Richmond, who lost valuable time by a couple of skids. In one of them the car turned round twice on the track. This spelled fourth place at the end of the day.

Last Desperate Effort.

Mrs. Wisdom took control again next morning and by one o'clock had won back the lead, so with 170 miles to go, she again handed over control of the wheel to Miss Richmond. There was dismay in the Riley pits when one after another of their cars fell out, and when they found that the surviving Riley team were just two slips of women. They gave the signal to "go all out," and Mrs. Wisdom lapped the track at 87 m.p.h. and slowly overtook the leading Talbot.

For the whole of an afternoon there ensued a battle of the sexes, one man after another striving furiously to lower the women's colours. Brian Lewis pilled on speed, and was steadily reducing the margin when trouble forced him out of the contest. Saunders Davies then took up the challenge in his big Talbot. He was driving magnificently and lapping at an average of 95½ m.p.h. So anxious was he to win the race for the men that he stayed at the wheel continuously for 523 miles. For nearly two hours on Saturday he lapped the track side by side with Sir Malcolm Campbell. The cars were identical in speed and there was some thrilling jockeying for position at the corners. Towards the end Davies got his car in front by a length and stayed there, and Campbell, having super-charger trouble, could not finish.

Only Seven Finish.

Only seven cars completed the course in the time limit. The placings were:—

1. Mrs. E. Wisdom and Miss Joan Richmond (1,039 Riley), 12 hr. 23 min. 53 sec. (84.41 m.p.h.).
2. A. O. Saunders Davies (2,970 Talbot), 10 hr. 57 min. 51 sec. (95.43).
3. Norman Black and R. Gibson (746 M.G. Midget), 13 hr. 51 min. 38 sec. (75.50).

The class winners were:—

- Class 4 (2,000 to 3,000 c.c.)—A. O. Saunders Davies (2,970 Talbot), 95.43 m.p.h.
- Class 7 (750 to 1,000 c.c.)—Mrs. E. Wisdom and Miss Joan Richmond (1,039 Riley) 84.41 m.p.h.

Class 8 (500 to 750 c.c.)—Norman Black and R. Gibson (746 M.G. Midget), 75.50 m.p.h. The team prize was awarded to Mr. A. W. Fox's trio of Talbots, the drivers of which also received prizes. — Reuter.

THE GREAT MAN OF MOTORDOM

Living in Seclusion and Retirement.

SIR FREDERICK ROYCE

Although he has lived in retirement for several years now, Sir Frederick Royce is still one of the greatest figures in the motoring world, for his name is bound up with the particular tradition of perfection which is one of the industry's chief distinctions.

The formation of Rolls-Royce Limited took place in 1906; a year or so before that Mr. Royce had built this car, one of which came into the possession of the Hon. C. S. Rolls, a pioneer racing motorist, and principal of an important firm of car factors in London. As a result of Mr. Rolls' enthusiasm for this car, his firm became sole factors of the early Royce models, until the two firms eventually joined forces.

Mr. Royce's first cars had been two-cylinder vehicles, but he later designed and produced three- and four-cylinder models with great success. He had undeniable genius and, in addition, a passion for detail perfection, both in material and workmanship, and he never once departed from the high standard his ideals set up, so that from the first his products bore the characteristic which are now associated with the Rolls-Royce name.

Great Achievements

Shortly after the formation of the joint company the works were removed from Manchester to Derby, and production was confined to one model the 40/60 a.p. "Silver Ghost." It was not until the outbreak of War that Mr. Royce seriously turned his attention to the development of the aeroplane engine. The imperative need for reliable aircraft then opened up for him an enormous field of research and experiment, and he brought to bear on the matter the same enthusiasm which he had given to motor car development in its early stages.

The record of achievements standing to the credit of Rolls-Royce aero engines contains incidents that have made aerial history—Alcock and Brown's flight from Newfoundland to Ireland in 16 hours, for instance, and the first stage-by-stage flight from England to Australia in 28 days.

Mr. Royce was created a baronet in 1930. One of his rare public appearances is now made each year at Hendon on the occasion of the R.A.F. Display, when he shows a keen interest in the latest developments of the engines bearing his name.

RAILWAYS USE TRUCK AS BUSINESS AID.

Huge Fleets.

Most railways to-day can be classed as large users of road transport vehicles, some of them, in fact, being operators of huge fleets of lorries working from the various railway depots throughout the country.

Railway methods, of course, necessitate the keeping of systematic records of performance, so that inefficient machines are soon discovered. Conversely, the efficient lorries quickly make themselves known, so that it is not surprising that the fleets are generally made up of machines of leading makes, such as Albion.

This well-known Glasgow-built machine is offered in such a wide range of models that practically any requirement can be met. Thus, among this year's additions to railway fleets are: 40.45-cwt. Albions for the London, Midland and Scottish Railway, London, large repeat orders of 32-passenger Albion "Valkrie" buses and 40.45-cwt. lorries for the London, Midland and Scottish Railway (Northern Counties Committee), Belfast, a large mixed batch of overtypes 4-tonners, overtypes 40.45-cwt. and standard 30.35-cwt. models for the London and North Eastern Railway, and a contract for a larger fleet of special Albion "Valkrie" 32-passenger chassis, 3½-ton, 40.45-cwt., and 30.35-cwt. chassis for the Great Northern Railway, Belfast.

BRITISH BOAT ENGINE.

Conversion From Aero Unit.

OVER 500 H.P. RATING.

One of the best-known British aero-engines has been converted into a motorboat engine. It has still to be tried, afloat, and therefore there is no evidence of its behaviour in a speedboat, but it is the product of a long period of experiments in adaptation; it has given admirable results in recent bench tests; and Mr. H. Scott-Paine, who has undertaken the development, expects to be able to guarantee it for 300 hours' work without overhaul. If the promise is fulfilled British motor-boats of remarkably high speed for sporting purposes, or of moderate speed and high power for commercial purposes will be on the market before the year is over.

The Napier Lion, chosen for adaptation, is not the first aero engine to be converted, but it is probably the most suitable. Its three banks of cylinders, arranged in the form of a broad arrow, make it a most compact unit, and its low weight in relation to the power produced gives it an enormous advantage over any engine designed for the first place for marine use. The converted engine, renamed the Sea Lion, yields over 500 horse-power at 2,800 revolutions a minute and, notwithstanding additions and alterations, the power-weight ratio is about 2.6lb. for every horse-power developed. Arrangements have been made to supply the engine at three different ratings, the two lower ones being 400 and 425 horse-power. This will mean a change in compression ratios, with consequent longer life.

The reverse gear lies in compact form close against the main crankcase, although a flywheel and self-starter ring have been added to the crankshaft. The self-starter is specially geared and has a Bendix drive. The result is that the electric motor is both small and light. Another ingenious arrangement in this engine is the apparatus which provides for the simultaneous advance of the ignition as the carburettor throttles are opened.

This will be the most powerful motorboat engine produced on this side of the Atlantic, and in the matter of weight it will be far in advance of any other unit yielding high power. Great Britain has already begun to develop an important export business in fast motor-boats for service and commercial purposes. The Sea Lion produced by the Power Boat Company should help that movement by supplying much greater power at a comparatively low initial and operational cost.

ELEPHANT AS CAR TESTER

How an elephant was used to steel the strength of an all-steel motor-car body is told by the Pressed Steel Co., of Oxford, England. A platform, was fixed on top of a car fitted with a body of one-piece construction, and a five-ton elephant was invited to step on to it from a warehouse floor of similar height.

The huge beast never hesitated; he was conscious that the body-work would hold him, and he stepped on to it with confidence. The body stood the test with ease.

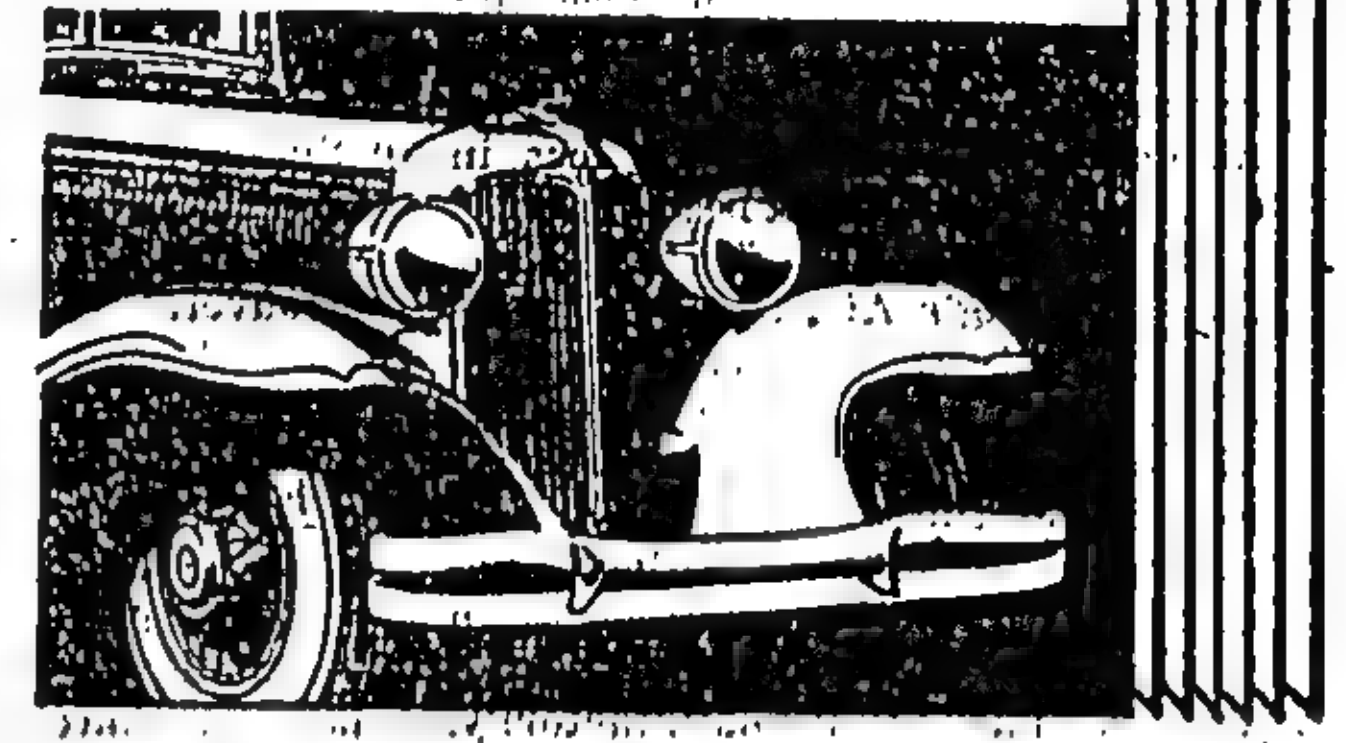

ANTI-KNOCK FUELS.

The general availability of anti-knock fuels has already enabled engineers to raise the compression of private car engines to quite a considerable extent; thus, increasing both the power output and the thermal efficiency. According to the concern which markets ethyl petrol in the U.S., this trend is likely to continue; "super-compression" engines being envisaged as a forthcoming development. Figures are given to show that in this way enhanced performance is attained without risks of bearing trouble, overheating or increased consumption.

C HANGING conditions have demanded a further advancement in the development of trucks, and Dodge Brothers, with their determination to be leaders in the field of Transportation Engineering, have developed and now present, a new series of trucks of 1525 lbs. to 4400 lbs. payload capacities to meet the conditions of today. This remarkable new series is available with either a four or a six cylinder engine and can be had in either 131 or 157 inch wheelbases.

The new trucks have been engineered to meet modern conditions and they have the stamina demanded for rugged, day after day service under trying circumstances. They offer a new truck value, a value far greater than any offered to date, a value you should demand at a price you can pay.

As a part of the time-proven Transportation Engineering service we will be glad to show you how these new trucks can be adapted to your trucking problem. Come in and tell us your hauling needs. There is no obligation on your part.

Sporting Gossip From Near And Far

By Athole

Anderson Progressing Well.

It is pleasing to hear that Donald Anderson, who gained his Interport cricket blazer at the early age of 19, is progressing favourably after his operation for appendicitis. The University tennis team are feeling his loss in their League encounters.

Lee Wai-tong's Absence.

The Chinese Recreation Club are unfortunate in losing the services of Lee Wai-tong for the remainder of the tennis season. He has been showing excellent understanding with Tani Wal-pui in the premier side, and his vacancy will be hard to fill satisfactorily. His absence is doubly unfortunate for the C.R.C. cannot afford to take any risks now that they have eliminated the Indian R.C., the holders. In spite of their loss they look to be in a very sound position to carry off the Shield they last won in 1928, after two successive victories.

GOAL-SCORING RECORD.

GURBACHAN Singh, the brilliant forward of the Radio Sports Club hockey team, has scored 118 goals to date. He has scored a goal in each match he has played in.

Reid's Versatility.

F. V. Reid, who made his debut in the Tennis League in the K.C.G. "A" Division side last Monday, has only been in the Colony two weeks, having come down from Shanghai where he has a fine reputation for soccer, cricket, tennis, water-polo and swimming. The Kowloon Cricket Club have lost no time in securing his services, but the Kowloon Football Club have not been so active. H. M. McTavish having secured Reid for the Valley side.

First Wicket Record.

Reid has represented Shanghai at soccer and swimming ever since 1925, and to show his versatility in the field of sport, he holds the Shanghai first wicket record partnership at cricket. In 1929 he and M. J. Divecha, who played in the Interport last May, added 157 runs for the "Rovers" first wicket against the Police when faced with a total of 224. He has also won several cups at tennis, having partnered

Duff, the Canadian Davis Cup player, in the Rotary Club Tourney.

Also a Musician.

Reid is working with the Electric Service Corporation and was a member of the Majestic Melodians in Shanghai. He is a talented musician who has given several radio recitals whilst on holiday in Vancouver.

FREAK CATCH.

BATES, the Warricksire batsman, was out in an amazing manner in the match against Northamptonshire at Northampton. When 34 he made a hard drive and the ball struck R. E. S. Wyatt, the other batsman, just above the right knee, afterwards bouncing into the air for Cox (A. L.) to make an easy catch.

Two Perelras.

There is a possibility of two Perelras representing the L.R.C. during next cricket season. F. D. Perelra's brother is arriving in the Colony at the end of this month heralded by a useful College reputation in Ceylon as a wicket-keeper. He will, however, have to be exceptionally good if he is to displace S. A. Iamall, one of the finest wicket-keepers in the Colony at the present moment.

Wizard Winter Fong.

The baseball match at Caroline Hill to-day between the South China A.A. and the Lingnam University will go the full nine innings instead of the customary seven. In spite of the presence of Winter Fong in the visiting side, the South China outfit are expected to win, though lacking the services of four of their regular players—Howard Jan, Milton Goo, Al Fong and Harold Fong, Winter Fong, who has not yet been seen in the Colony, is described by Canton ball fans as a wizard pitcher. The game takes place at 3.30 p.m. this afternoon.

No Baseball League.

It is now an established fact that the Hong Kong Baseball League will not operate this year. There are only two combinations who could possibly field teams—the South China and the U. S. Navy.

The Japanese are unable to raise a side and the American Civilians are not strong enough to compete. This season will witness only exhibition games, the one in the near future being that between the U.S.S. Mindanno and the South China squad next week-end.

Seven Interporters.

In the recent "A" Division Tennis League match between the Indian Recreation Club and the Kowloon Cricket Club there were no fewer than six players who had represented the Colony in some sport or other—E. C. Fincher (cricket and tennis), and E. F. Fincher, A. A. Rumjahn, A. R. Minu, F. D. Perelra, G. C. Burnett, all of whom are Interport cricketers, and F. Reid, who is a Shanghai Interporter for soccer and swimming, make a seventh interporter out of twelve players.

CHINESE GOLF GENIUS.

CHARLES Chung, a golf professional of one of the most exclusive clubs in the Hawaiian Islands, who is at present spending a holiday in the Colony, is one of the few Chinese who have mastered the art of the Royal and Ancient game.

Learning the game at an early age he has advanced to championship golf and has been successful in Canada and the States on more than one occasion.

During his stay in Hong Kong, Mr. Chung will play over one or two courses, and there is a distinct possibility of a quiet friendly game being arranged.

The arrangements which seem to be well under way for a new Golf Course at Tai Tam Chung prove interesting, as they will add yet another golf course to the Colony. Hong Kong is certainly a popular golfing centre with its present nine courses, and with this in view it is to be wondered at that there are not more inter-club matches. At present the Junior Section at Happy Valley and Kowloon are the only clubs who participate in inter-club games, Shek O and Kowloon have also been matched against each other, but no match has been played for some years.

ARTISTS RIFLES RECORD.

THE famous Artists Rifles established a new record when they won the bayonet teams combat (Service Championships) and the Inter-Services Championship at the Royal Tournament. This is the third year in succession that they have carried off this "double." The team was led throughout by Capt. R. R. Cripps. They beat the 1st Bn. Scots Guards by 14 to 4 and the Royal Navy by 13 to 5.

Vines Fully Extended.

R. J. Ritchie, the son of the veteran M. J. Ritchie, nearly had the satisfaction of beating Ellsworth Vines in his first match on English soil. The whirlwind attack of the American, however, saved the day and he went out at 5-7, 6-4, 8-6. That was in the London Championship in which Vines was eliminated by Harry Hopman, the Australian, in the Third Round.

Betty's Brother Captain.

J. W. Nuthall, brother of the famous "Betty," has been elected Captain of the Cambridge University L.T.C. in succession to P. E. Malfroy. P. S. Young has been elected Honorary Secretary.

Featherweight Holder Loses.

Bat Battalino, the American featherweight champion of the world, received severe punishment in his fight with Frank Petrolle, and after ten rounds of hurricane fighting was forced to admit defeat on a point's decision. Petrolle weighed in at 141 and Battalino at 141½.

HE DESERVED IT.

AFTER cycling 30 miles from his home to the course, John Quigley smashed the Scottish record for the 100 Miles by 3 minutes, his time being 4 hours 52 mins. 5 secs. He now holds titles for the 25 Miles, the 50 Miles, and the 100 Miles in Scotland.

COCHET'S DEFEAT

"BEATEN BY BETTER PLAYER."

Scot's Determination

COLLINS SHOWS NERVOUSNESS IN FINAL GAME

Uncanny Anticipation

London, June 21.

To-day provided a great sensation at Wimbledon in the defeat of Henri Cochet, who is ranked No. 1 by the late Davis cup player I. G. Collins who won by 6-2, 8-6, 0-6, 6-3.

Collins, a young Scotsman, has partnered J. C. Gregory in many Davis Cup doubles matches and he is regarded as one of the finest doubles players in the country. Nobody however has ever regarded him as a great singles player and his defeat of Cochet was an event which caused extraordinary excitement and surprise.

The Scotsman adopted storming tactics from the start and it was his refusal to be frightened by Cochet's reputation that really won the match for him. Collins had little difficulty in taking the first set at 6-2. This however evoked little surprise as Cochet is a listless player and never troubles himself in the opening stages of a match. It was when he lost the next set at 8-6 that the excitement began.

Collins was covering the court with amazing speed and his anticipation never erred with the result that he had little to fear from Cochet's passing shots. He won the set by placing his drives cleverly into the corners and then advancing to the net to cut off Cochet's advancing returns.

It was a tremendous battle however since it was a very different

Cochet to the one who was beaten by Nigel Sharpe last year, and it was only the Scotsman's dogged determination that enabled him to capture that vital second set.

Cochet won the third set without the loss of a game and very nearly without the loss of a point, but Collins was wisely biding his time and reserving his strength for the inter stages of the match.

He began the fourth set with the same tactics that had won for him the first two sets and was leading 4-1. At this point Cochet, playing with great care, slowed the game up considerably, and after lobbing back a few slow returns would suddenly dash up to the net and cut off Collins' return, and in this manner he won the next two games. Collins however broke through his opponent's service and took the next game 5-3.

In the final game Collins had two match points but lost both by hitting wildly out of court through sheer nervousness. The third time however he produced a perfect lob after Cochet had advanced to the net and left the Frenchman no time to get back.

Collins was given a tremendous ovation after the match. He left the ground hurriedly, however, and like the modest Scot he is, avoided the eager crowd who were waiting to mob him. Mme Cochet embraced her husband after the match with tears streaming down her face, her husband however told her that he had been well beaten by a better man on the day's play and asked her to go and congratulate him on his wonderful tennis which she did. Mrs. Collins, mother of the winner, was highly delighted at her son's victory. She talks a keen interest in lawn tennis and in addition to having coached her son is one of his sternest critics, although she did not have to find fault with this match.

UNUSUAL GOLFING INCIDENT.

Player Misses Ball in British Open.

BREAKS CARDINAL SIN.

During the British Amateur Championship at Muirfield an incident of an unusual nature, because of the principle involved, occurred in the match between two Scottish players, H. G. MacCallum and K. Forbes, of Leven, who were all square with one hole to play. On the eighteenth the Forbes's driver, the grip of which was wet with the lashing rain, slipped in his hands, and he missed the ball completely, having an "air shot."

Forbes dug a huge divot about twelve inches behind the ball, which rolled off the wooden peg. Thoughtlessly, or in ignorance of the rules, Forbes, before taking his next shot, which was played with a brassie, picked up the divot, replaced it and stamped it down with his foot. By this act he improved the lie of the ball—a cardinal sin in golf—and he automatically lost the hole. His opponent did not make a claim because as in the best golfing manners, he "did not see" the incident. However, as it turned out, Forbes's unwitting act did not affect the issue, as he was never in sight of a half.

The three great essentials of all ball sports are concentration, physical fitness, and keeping the eye on the ball.—Rene Lacoste.

Shanghai, July 4.

Athletics.

China's two representatives for the Tenth Olympiad at Los Angeles are expected here to-day, and will leave on Friday for America. Z. C. Liu is the holder of three All-China records—100-Metres in 10.8 secs.; 200-Metres in 22 secs.; and 400-Metres in 52.4 secs. S. W. Yui smashed the All-China figures for the 800-Metres and the 1,600-Metres, but his times have not yet been officially recognised by the China National Amateur Athletic Federation. They owe their representation and the funds which will take them to Los Angeles to the North China Athletic Federation, who launched a special campaign for their benefit.

Baseball.

Frank Ziel, who has joined the Amateurs after leaving the 31st U.S. Infantry, made his debut in an auspicious manner on Saturday. He pitched out two homers and a three-bagger in three successive frames, thus carrying home four runs himself, driving in four others, and helping the civilians in no small way to slaughter the Japanese Businessmen's Club by 13 to 1 at the Race Course.

Cricket.

Three Shanghai Interporters distinguished themselves on Saturday. S. Korman, the "Rees" opening batsman rattling up 93, included in which were fourteen boundaries, against the Police attack; Booth, first change bowler of the Armoured Cars, taking 7 Shaforce wickets for 35 runs in addition to scoring 35 out of a total of 140; and W. Mansel-Smith, opening bowler of the Nomads, taking 5 Wanderers' wickets for 55 runs, in addition to scoring 47.

Other Interporters who were in the limelight were A. J. Barson (49 not out) and P. V. Simpson (32). G. R. More, who was recently in Hong Kong and who was an Interporter for both cricket and rugby, scored 25 for the Wanderers, whilst Pat Mader, who has again joined the "Rees," was not given a chance to bat or bowl.

Results of the League games were as follow:—
The Shanghai Recreation Club drew with the Police.
Rees: 238 for 5 c. (W. H. Cochran, 41, S. Korman 93, C. J. Merritt 38).
Police: 105 for 9 (F. Kellner 6 for 37).

Nomads: 165 (P. V. Simpson 32, W. Mansel-Smith 47, W. James 38, E. H. Anstee 8 for 51).
Wanderers: 118 (A. J. Barson 49 not out, W. Mansel-Smith 5 for 55).

The Armoured Cars beat the Shaforce by 14 runs.
A.C.: 140 (R. Booth 35, Sgt. Vance 6 for 30).
Shaforce: 126 (Lt. Armitage 27).

BRITISH LADIES TRIUMPH OVER FRENCH AT GOLF

Repeat Their Victory of Last Year

St. Germain, July 2.
Great Britain to-day won the Anglo-French women's golf tournament by six matches to one, with two games halved. The British women thus repeated their victory at Oxye last year, when they won by eight matches to nil, with one halved.

Britain to-day won two of the three foursomes and four of the six singles. The most notable results were:—
Miss Wanda Morgan halved her match with Miss Lacoste; Miss Diana Fishwick beat Mme. Thion de la Chausse by 5 up and 4 to play; Miss Molly Gourlay (who killed a swallow with a drive) beat Miss Pein by 7 and 6.

E.R.A. Holland 30 not out, R. Booth 7 for 36).
All the teams have now played four matches, the Armoured Cars having won 3 and drawn 1; the Nomads won 2 and drawn 2; the Rees and the Police won 1, lost 1 and drawn 2; the Wanderers won 1, lost 3; and the Shaforce lost 3 and drawn 1.

Polo.
The Polo season opened on Saturday with the following results:—
Cowboys 8, Light Horse "A" 3.
Issue 2, American Troop 0.
League of Nations 5, East Lanes 1.
Light Horse "B" 5, Co-optimists 1.

Racing.
The International Club held their 182nd Race Meeting at Kiangwan yesterday in brilliant sunshine. The racing, however, was not of a very high standard and dividends were unusually low. The Midsummer Handicap, over one mile, provided the thrill of the afternoon. Half a furlong from the post it looked like King Cotton's race with Y. S. Chang up, but splendid riding by I. E. House on Sub-Inspector made it a dead-heat in the last few strides.

The highest dividend of the day, $170.00, was paid out by Public Revenue (Y. K. Tu) which ran second in the Pootung Handicap ("B" Class). Joffrey Farnol (K. Y. Yuen) paid $155.60 for second place in the Novices Race, the first event of the afternoon.
Y. S. Chang led the jockeys with 2 firsts, a second and a third, whilst I. E. House had two firsts and two thirds. J. E. Lok (2 firsts and a second) was third and Col-lins secured a first a second and a third.

Tennis.
The League has made great strides since the weather has cleared up and it is now possible to give League tables. In the senior division the trophy will go either to the Chinese or the Japanese Club. Both teams are of equal strength and a titanic struggle for the title is anticipated. The Japanese will probably carry off the junior division as the Nalgai Wata Kussha and the Japanese T. C. teams possess better combinations than their rivals. The following are the League standings up to Saturday:—

First Division.
Sets	P.	W.	L.	Pts.
Chinese Tennis Club	45	38	9	30
Japanese Tennis Club	39	23	7	23
Lusitano	45	23	22	28

GRAND CHALLENGE CUP WON BY LIGHT BLUES

May Represent Britain at Olympiad

London, July 2.
A big crowd of spectators at Henley this afternoon saw the Leander Club, composed of the Cambridge crew, which beat Oxford in the Boat Race earlier this year, win the final of the Grand Challenge Cup from the Thames Club by half a length. The time was 7 minutes 19 seconds.
The winners will now probably represent Great Britain in the Olympic Games at Los Angeles.

The proverb that putting is an inspiration rather than an art is apt to be discredited nowadays. Personally, I still believe that there is a great deal of truth in it. It is the safest rule I know that the best way is the way that gets the ball into the hole.—Harry Vardon.

EASIER GOLF

by H. STUART HOBSON

Expressions We Use in Golf.

XII. "BREAKING THE CADDY'S BACK."

HOW MANY CLUBS DOES THE GOLFER NEED?

It was good to see in a tournament the other day a golfer battling with a single club—an iron made thirty years ago.

True, he was a fifteen-handicap man and he was beaten, but it was a noble gesture.

Talk about the limitation of armaments seems to get us nowhere in golf. We talk about using fewer clubs, but still we break the caddy's back.

I picked up a new leather bag the other day that in itself seemed to weigh a ton. A separate slot with metal guide was allotted to each one of a generous range of clubs. The side satchel was apparently intended to hold a change of clothing and a pair of boots as well as a groos of balls.

A vast umbrella was included as part of the bargain.

22 Clubs! The bag, of course, had a metal support that enabled it to be stood up while a club was being selected. This, presumably, was for use of the golfer if he carried his own bag, but I could not see any such thing happening.

Most of my friends when they go out to play a few holes without a caddy borrow a lady's canvas bag and put into it half-a-dozen selected clubs.

Twenty-two clubs is the maximum number I have seen carried by any one golfer. The golfer concerned was, I regret to have to add, not proficient with any of them. Bobby Jones, I believe, carries fifteen clubs.

Our American friends are fond of carrying a large number of iron clubs because they are devotees of the "grooved" swing.

Keeping the same swing, but changing the club, they play their approach shots from all distances with truly remarkable sameness.

Five Clubs Required.
The method is not so varied and interesting as playing all the shots with the same club, but it is certainly effective.

Yet while the golfer will find the grooved swing a short cut to good golf, he should not begin his career with a battery of weapons.

Crawford Very Spasmodic.
Jiro Satoh Loses to Australian.
LONDON CHAMPIONSHIP.

London, June 18.
Crawford and Satoh entertained a large crowd with tennis of high quality in the semi-final of the London Championships at Queen's Club. The Japanese could make no impression on to Sydney man on the fast Australian turf; on the slower Queen's court, favouring his retrieving powers, he hunted Crawford all the way home.

Crawford would play two games like a master—perfect in touch and producing delightful shots with the nonchalance of a man swinging a cane in a field of buttercups—then permit the flow of his magic to stop as if the score was of small consequence.
Crawford lost the first set. Satoh, with Oriental concentration, had gone to 5-3. Crawford won the next two games by play that made you gasp yet so unerring was his fling. Then he allowed the Japanese to carry the set.
But in the next two sets, although each was full of fine and critical rallies, Crawford did not tally with Fate. He hit some matchless winners off Satoh's service, and his backhand passing shots on the run were created for a tense situation. The quick-footed Satoh brought off many difficult volleys, some of them cheating Crawford of an expected coup; but he could not hold the Australian when he was in top gear.
[Crawford won the Final from H. Timmer, the Dutch champion.]

FIGHTS LEADS TO COURT

Chinese "Guilty" of Wounding.

Ching Wah, shop foki, who, on June 8, was accused of the stabbing of Fung Sun, another shop foki, was yesterday fined $25, in default
one month, and bound over.
The injured man told the court that the fight started over the weighing of some fish. The defendant, he stated, tried to make off with some fish belonging to him.
A fight ensued in the Central Market. Although there were a hundred or so witnesses, the police were unable to either find the knife
Wah's weapon was a pen-knife, it was said.

GARDEN THEATRE.

"Africa Speaks."

The new open-air theatre which opened its season last Wednesday still continues to draw capacity houses nightly. To-night there will be a change of programme. Paul L. Hoefler's, thrilling romance of the African jungles, "Africa Speaks" will be the big attraction for Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Hundreds of amazing happenings were recorded in this truly marvelous picture. For the first time deer that leap in the air and fly like aeroplanes were photographed.
Kiga, the King's son, is seen torn to pieces by a lion in front of the camera's eye, a biblical plague of locusts desolates the entire country before the camera; for the first time the habits and customs of the duck-billed women are shown; in fact,
"Africa Speaks" is a rare record of hitherto undiscovered monsters, disfigured folk, and customs of odd humans. It has been endorsed by scientists, zoologists and educators in all parts of the world.

The mysterious, glamorous Africa is brought to you audibly as well as visually. For the first time you actually hear the roaring lions, trumpeting elephants and barking zebras. In imagination you join the word rites and customs of strange peoples of the trackless jungles.

You will see the result of two and a half years of well-planned effort and you will admit that the long, tedious work has been most successful. An epic of strange peoples, strange customs and strange wild animal life, "Africa Speaks" is a rare screen production, a most sensational picture that every one should see.

LONDON TOPICS

From Our Own Correspondent

June 19.

Keeping Fit.

On many occasions people have asked the Prince manages to get through all his work and still keep fit, the answer is twofold. A light diet and to bed in the country on as many nights in the week as possible.

The luncheon of his preference consists of a cup of China tea, while his recently acquired home near Sunningdale has proved a very real boon in the matter of keeping him in good health.

A Matter of Culture.

Sir Samuel Hoare was "done for the waxworks" not a long ago.
Having submitted to the ordeal, he was, in due course, invited to view the more or less completed model.
Sir Samuel approved his likeness, except for one detail, which he found puzzling. "It was quite good of me," he says, "only they had given me Lloyd George's hair!"

Another Everest Attempt.

A further attempt to climb Mount Everest is being planned for the comparatively near future. The Everest Committee are seriously considering ways and means.
It is rather uncertain, however, whether the religious difficulties in Tibet arising out of previous expeditions will be overcome, or whether an attempt will be made from the south, via Nepal, should it prove feasible.

When the time comes to choose the personnel of the expedition, there will be a considerable
"queue" of applicants.

Psychology of Climbing.

The effect of altitude on the human system is, rather psychological than physiological—especially in the case of the native porters.

Porters who on previous expeditions have reached, say 25,000 feet with difficulty will think nothing of ascending to that height again.
It is the knowledge that they are higher than they have ever been before that does the damage.

Each mountain has its "standard," based on the highest altitude reached on it by previous expeditions. Everest's standard is now nothing short of its summit.

Oxford's Distinguished Sons.

All the members of the Oxford Union taking part in the recent presidential debate are related to very eminent men in the political world.
The two candidates for the office of president were Mr. J. C. Smuts and Mr. Anthony Greenwood. Mr.
Smuts, the new president, is a nephew of Gen. Smuts, the veteran South African statesman, and Mr.
"Tony" Greenwood is the son of Mr. Arthur Greenwood, the Minister of Health in the last Government.

Of the two ex-presidents speaking in the debate, Mr. John Foot is a son of the Secretary for Mines, and Mr. John Boyd-Carpenter, who made, I am told, the speech of the evening, is the son of Sir Archibald Boyd-Carpenter, the member for Chertsey and Financial Secretary to the Treasury from 1924-29.

In Lesser Capacities.

The two tellers, Mr. J. S. Cripps and Mr. K. R. F. Steel-Maitland, are also the sons respectively of Sir Stafford Cripps, and Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, who was Minister of Labour in the last Conservative Government.

The election of Mr. Giles Play-fair, the son of Sir Nigel Play-fair, as treasurer, will cause a great deal of satisfaction, especially in the O.U.D.S., of which he has been a prominent member.

A Whig Socialist.

Mr. A. V. Alexander, who was First Lord of the Admiralty in the last Administration, is to be put up for membership of the Reform Club.

The Club celebrated the centenary of the passing of the Reform Bill of 1832 by holding a banquet and there was apparently "much satisfaction" that Mr. Alexander was eligible to take part in the celebration.

Gravesend's Charter.

Another chapter of Kentish history will be commemorated this week. On Wednesday the ancient borough of Gravesend celebrates the tercentenary of the charter of its incorporation, which was granted by Charles I.

The occasion will be marked by the official opening of the grounds of Fort House, which was once the home of Gen. Gordon. The grounds were recently purchased by the Corporation from the War Office, and have been converted into a public park. Their former military character has, however, been preserved as far as possible.

Boxing at a Ball.

Boxing, wrestling, and fencing bouts, as a substitute for cabaret entertainment, were the novel attraction at a ball held at Grosvenor House recently. The idea, with which Lord Londale is prominently identified, was an excellent one.

The boxing contests, under the direction of Ted Broadbent, were fought out in a ring in the middle of the supper-room, are to be real fights, and the wrestling—not the brutal "all-in" variety interested a number of the younger people who of recent years have been taking up with renewed vigour the noble arts of self-defence.

Telephone Names.

Byron, just opened, is not the only telephone exchange in the Harrow district to be named after a poet. One at Kenton is to be "Wordsworth," and one at Wembley "Arnold." This is in pursuance of the policy of using historical names which was first adopted about four years ago and has already given us Macaulay Gladstone, Abercorn, &c.

Any relics of men commemorated in this way would be welcomed by the Post Office for exhibition at the exchanges concerned. Quite a number of relics of the sculptor Flaxman have already been got together at the exchange in Chelsea which bears his name.

"EMMA" STARRING MARIE DRESSLER, QUEEN'S THEATRE.

The immensely popular Marie Dressler in a story written especially for her by Frances Marion, author of "The Champ" and "Min and Bill" will be seen on the screen to-day at the Queen's. Miss Dressler's new starring vehicle is called "Emma" which is the name of the character whom she portrays—an old-fashioned, stern but devoted housekeeper in the family of an eccentric inventor, who mothers his children as though they were her own.

Servant Becomes Stepmother.
A successful invention brings wealth and prestige to the family who promptly go in for society, but they still depend on the faithful Emma who nurses the now grown-up children, still scolds them and in general handles the reins of the household. When inventor finally asks Emma to become his wife, complications begin, for whereas the children are perfectly willing to have Emma wait on them hand and foot, they cannot reconcile themselves to recognising their former servant as a stepmother.

The climax occurs when the inventor dies of a stroke, leaving all of his money to Emma. The gentle and kind-hearted woman now finds herself not only the centre of a cruel will contest but is also accused of murder by the children whom she has cared for since their cradle days. This tragic situation is said to give Miss Dressler the greatest dramatic opportunities of her vivid screen career.

Many Hilarious Moments.
As in the case of "Min and Bill," the versatile star is given numerous episodes in which to make the most of her inimitable talents as a comedienne for obviously no family saga is without its comedy moments. In the present instance, audiences are promised laughs galore when Miss Dressler visits an airport and accidentally becomes a victim of the machine while tests would-be aviators for dizziness. The famous Dressler brand of humour is also reported to be at its best in the episode in which the inventor proposes to Emma in a crowded railroad station and in a scene in which the two are on their honeymoon and Emma attempts to row her newly-acquired husband around a lake.

The dramatic moments on the point in the death of the inventor while takes place during the short-lived honeymoon; in the reading of the will; in the reaction of the ungrateful children; in a vivid airplane race made by the youngest son in an attempt to come to the aid of Emma when she is placed on trial for murder and in the spectacular murder trial itself.

Lew Ayres, King of the Movies! As our special attraction we are pleased to present the young man who was recently selected as the most popular male star of the screen, in his greatest picture since "All Quiet on the Western Front."

The production is Universal's drama of Mississippi River life, "Heaven on Earth," a colorful screen play in which the handsome Lew enacts the part of a "steamboter" on the Father of Waters. He is seen in the greatest characterization of his career, and brings to the screen new evidence of his ability.

"Heaven on Earth" was adapted from the prize novel
"Mississippi" by Ben Lucien Burman.

AUTHOR EXPERIENCED THRILLS IN WRITING
"HEAVEN ON EARTH."

One of the most successful
"first" novels of recent years, according to critics, is "Mississippi," by Ben Lucien Burman.
It received the highest praise from book critics. Edward J.
O'Brien, who rates each year's novels, says "There won't be as good a book out of America this year as 'Mississippi.'"

This absorbing book, based on the constant feud between "steamboters" and "shanty-boters" on the Mississippi River, has just been brought to the screen by Universal, and under the title of "Heaven on Earth."

Burman, former newspaper man and short story writer, was born in Covington, Kentucky, and after attending the public schools in Kentucky graduated from Harvard in 1920. Always a rover at heart, Burman has lived in many countries, and has accumulated a great store of literary material through his practice of living close to the common people of the countries visited.
He has reported for the New York World, Cincinnati Times-Star, and Boston Herald, contributing many strange tales of foreign lands. He was wounded in the World War and went on crutches for a year.

A rich serving of light nonsense.

Some hilarious fun churned out of matrimonial complications.

Sydney Howard and Nelson Keys as a pair of decent worshippers.

One long chain of matrimonial complications.

Sydney Howard and Nelson Keys put over some funny stuff in a bright farce.

Everything that's riotously funny happens in "Almost a Divorce."

When a woman's jealous of a man's best friend there's no telling what may happen.

Marriage wrecked on the rock of friendship.

The chief thing that the cinema needs in these times is laughter. Any film that provides real fun is sure of a welcome. For this reason British and Dominion are to be congratulated upon "Almost a Divorce," which has Sydney Howard and Nelson Keys as the chief fun-providers. What makes the film is the consummate comedy acting of the two. Each is a perfect artist, and together they are superb. They get sozzled, and one of the funniest scenes is when they try to put themselves to bed. It is fun of the obvious kind, but it is so robustly and unashamedly done that every audience will roar when they see it. The actors are out to get laughs, and they get them.

JAPAN INSISTS MANCHURIA REMAIN FREE OF CHINA'S RULE

PROGRESS TOWARDS DISARMAMENT

ANGLO-AMERICAN PARLEY AT LAUSANNE FOLLOWS PACT OF POWERS

PREMIER MACDONALD RECEIVES KING'S CONGRATULATIONS.

Lausanne, Yesterday.

On the heels of the announcement of the new pact of the powers in the matter of debts and reparations, it was learned here to-day that disarmament negotiations are proceeding between British and United States representatives. Already an important working agreement seems well on the way.

There is every likelihood that France may be an accessory.

But the deliberations in this connection are still overshadowed by the international accord which has been reached on matters economic and political.

His Majesty King George has sent a personal message of congratulation to Premier MacDonald with the satisfactory conclusion of the Lausanne agreement. The success of the conference is largely a personal one for the British Prime Minister.

London Approval.

A full-throated chorus of approval and unqualified relief at the burying of the European hatchet, a cheerful "goodbye to all reparations" and unqualified eulogies of Premier MacDonald's personal triumph, are the keynotes of British Press reaction to the Lausanne agreement.

Although in some quarters disappointment is expressed that the agreement is not as comprehensive as it was initially hoped it would be, it is universally hailed as a "good second best" that will likely prove a real step towards general economic recovery.

Salient editorial sentences speak the British nation's feelings. "The best news since November, 1918," says the Daily Herald, and the Daily Chronicle adds feelingly, "Something at last done."

The Daily Mail calls the Lausanne agreement a "great achievement," and the Daily Telegraph terms it a "signal success."

The London Times touches a significant metaphor: "A poison has been extracted from Europe's economic system. The patient remains weak, but the spread of economic gangrene has been stayed."

Hampered by Politics.

Paying a tribute to the cordiality of M. Herriot, the chief of the French delegates to Lausanne, Herr Von Papen, Germany's Chancellor, declares that he believes M. Herriot, as well as himself, was hampered by the clandestine intrigues of those who, for party reasons, wished the negotiations to fail.

World Learns of Success.

Lausanne, Yesterday. When agreement was reached to-day by the Powers at Lausanne, word was flashed from the seat of the conference to the capitals of the world and in all save one, Berlin, the news was received with enthusiasm and thanksgiving. The nations, in effect, have wiped out all German reparations and in their place have arranged for bonding of the debt, in the sum of 3,000,000,000 marks.

SHANGHAI FORESEES DOOM OF TAEI

BATTLE BETWEEN BANKS FORESHADOWED HASTY ACTION OPPOSED

Shanghai, Yesterday.

A stiff battle between native bankers and the modern Chinese institutions over the question of the abolition of the tael currency, is foreseen here. Well-informed financial authorities believe the tael is doomed and predict its abolition will become effective on August 1.

The movement to abolish the dual currency, in favour of the dollar, is gathering momentum rapidly. Although the native bankers generally approved the plan at the outset, a strong section of bankers resolutely opposes the proposed change, contending hasty action may react against the money market and precipitate grave and unforeseen financial problems.

The movement, however, is strongly supported by the Finance Ministry at Nanking, by foreign banks and firms, and by the majority of big Chinese banks of a more modern tendency.

NATIONS SIGN AT LAUSANNE

Mr. MacDonald Pleads
For Peace.

PLENARY SESSION ENDS

Japan Must Show Same Homage to League.

Lausanne, Yesterday. Premier Ramsay MacDonald opened the final plenary session of the Powers here at 10 o'clock this morning before the crowded, smiling delegates.

On behalf of Great Britain, Sir John Simon, Foreign Minister, read a statement extending the moratorium among the creditor powers of Europe until the ratification of the Lausanne agreement. French and Italian delegates read similar statements.

There followed the signature of the delegates to the international agreement. Premier MacDonald affixing his name first for Britain. Others signed in order: M. Renkin, for Belgium, M. Herriot, for France, Herr Von Papen, for Germany, Mr. Yoshida, for Japan, Signor Mosconi, for Italy, M. Zaleski, for Poland, South Africa, New Zealand, Canadian and Australian delegates signed in order, thus bringing the British Commonwealth of Nations into solid support.

Premier MacDonald's Plea.

Addressing the conference, Premier MacDonald declared: "Our work has indeed ended. After three weeks we have come to an agreement which was not easy to attain. There were too many old memories, which are hardest to uproot. Our work will put a new page into history; not ending the chapter, but beginning a new book. The burden imposed upon Germany disturbed world trade and even a self-contained nation like the United States was as hard hit as ourselves. Individual prosperity cannot exist alone. The agreement signed here must have response elsewhere. It was hoped that Geneva would put an end to waste armaments, but disarmament is not enough. We must have candour and confidence, and moral disarmament among the nations. We must extend the hand of friendship and encouragement to all struggling nations. The Eastern nations must come in."

And turning to Mr. Yoshida, he added: "Japan must show the same homage to the League as others until we all live in peace."

georgette, light orange georgette and peach georgette, respectively, in Chinese and foreign styles. Their bouquets were of gladioli.

Colourful Ceremony.

As flower girl, Miss Jennie To, was dressed in pink georgette, carrying a basket of roses. The page boy, Master To Kwan-wing, wore a costume of white and sky blue crepe-de-chine of Western style.

The Matron of Honour was Miss Annie Ma, who was gown in green georgette, in Chinese and foreign style. The bride's mother attended in Chinese ceremonial attire.

Mr. Ronald Ma discharged the duties of best man, while the groomsmen were Messrs. William Ng, Lau-lu-pung and Lam-Chik-suen.

Throng of Guests.

About 600 guests thronged the roof garden for the reception, which was formally opened on arrival of the bride, after a string of crackers, lasting twenty minutes, had been fired.

Among those present were Mr. Tong Siu-ye, a Director on the Board of Administration of the Chung Shen Model district; Mr. Ma Ying-pui, father of the bridegroom, and the first Chinese permanent director of the Lingnam University; Dr. Cheng Wing-kwong, President of the Lingnam University; Mr. Chan Lim-pak, Chairman of the Tung Wah Hospital, of which the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Ma Man-fai, is a fellow director; the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D., the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Messrs. Ho Kwong, Kwok Siu-lau, Ngau Shing-kwan, and Lee Yick-mul, president of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

The bride's gift to the groom was a pair of jade cuff links and a gold watch, whilst that of the groom to the bride was a diamond platinum ring, a diamond bracelet and a diamond platinum wrist watch.

ARAKI OBJECTS

Saito Cabinet Split Feared.

Tokyo, Yesterday.

It is reliably reported that there are differences of opinion among Cabinet Ministers over the selection of the new President of the Manchuria Railway and that serious developments may follow.

Mr. Nagai, Minister for Overseas Affairs and the Premier, Viscount Saito informally announced yesterday the appointment of Mr. Chuji Kajiwara, a banker, as President, but the War Minister, General Araki, is stated to have expressed his definite opposition, recommending that General Yoshida, who is now on the retired list, could be given the position instead of Mr. Kajiwara.

It is further stated that there is a possibility of Cabinet resignations, as this is not the first time a quarrel over the appointments of General officials since the Saito Ministry was formed last May.—Reuter.

NATHAN ROAD TRAGEDY

Chinese Child Killed
By Lorry.

RAN ACROSS STREET

Knocked down by a motor lorry in Nathan Road, yesterday at 5.30 p.m., Tsang Siu-ying, a small Chinese girl, died two hours after being admitted to the Kowloon Hospital. The accident occurred opposite the Majestic Theatre, and many horrified onlookers saw the child, who was only five years old, dash across the road from footpath right into the path of the oncoming lorry. The driver swore violently to avoid her, but the lorry struck the child and threw her heavily into the road, causing internal injuries. The registered number of the lorry is 3259, and the driver's name Pun Fat.

JAPAN WILL REMAIN IN MANCHURIA

UNTIL TROOPS SECURE PEACE AND ORDER

POLICY IS ANNOUNCED

CHINA WILL NEVER RULE AGAIN, SAYS MINISTER.

Tokyo, Yesterday.

According to stories in the afternoon newspapers, Lieut.-General Araki, Minister of War and virtual dictator of Japan, in replying to questions from the League of Nations Commission, which visited him this morning, stated definitely that Japan would never tolerate Manchuria's return to China's rule. That was but one point in the War Minister's statement of policy.

Japan, he said, was desirous of seeing a healthy development in Manchukuo and Japan believed that she ought to recognise the new state as soon as it was sufficiently organised.

As yet, Lieut.-General Araki added, Japan was not considering when she would withdraw her troops from Manchuria, as it was necessary, in the first place, to restore peace and order in that realm.

In any event, he declared, Manchuria would never be allowed to return to China's rule. Owing to the fact that Manchuria was Japan's "life line," vital in the problem of defence, Japan and Manchuria were indivisible, he asserted.

Lord Lytton, who has not yet recovered sufficiently from his indisposition to attend meetings of the Commission, was not present during this morning's interview, but he expressed the hope that he would be well enough to attend the meeting with Count Uchida, newly-appointed Foreign Minister in the Saito Cabinet, on July 12. Count Uchida, formerly President of the South Manchuria Railway and one of the outstanding financial and political figures of Japan, succeeded Mr. Yoshizawa, who was Foreign Minister during the recent hostilities. Mr. Yoshizawa is a son-in-law of the late Premier Inukai.—Reuter.

LABOUR DISTURBANCE IN SHANGHAI

POLICE GUARD AGAINST VIOLENT ACTS

THOUSANDS QUIT JOBS

SCHOOL TEACHERS ALSO SHOW

Shanghai, Yesterday.

There has been a sudden recrudescence, of labour restlessness in Nantao district, following the French tramways "go slow strike." Disturbing rumours of others joining the tramway strikers in sympathy and a general walk-out of workers in all manner of industries, fly about the settlement.

So far as the French Concession tramway situation is concerned, the cars are operating fairly normally, although there are 700 mechanics away from work. The workers' demands have been rejected in Nantao and in consequence there is a certain added tenseness felt. There are many hundreds on strike there.

The striking element of the silk silatures and medicine shops are still in deadlock with their employers. Their factories and shops in Chapel are closed and deserted, but under heavy police guard. Thus far there has been no sabotage.

Chinese school teachers, too, are restive. They have submitted a series of demands for the consideration of the board of Education.

Although the tramway trouble in Nantao was originally quite an independent affair, it appears to have set fire in other directions. The main reason for the trouble among these employees is that the workers are insisting upon the release of Hsuan-mei, an ex-committeeman and member of their union, who is now serving a ten year sentence for spreading communist propaganda.

HOLDERS GAIN SWEEPING VICTORY OVER FILIPINO CLUB

The Chinese Bowling Club, holders of the "C" Division Shield, took no chances against the Filipino Club yesterday at Chaiwan Bay, and ran out winners by 9 sets to nil. The Filipino side, which sprang a surprise on the R.C.C. last Wednesday, were badly outclassed.—(Ying Ming.)
